House To Probe Grunewald's Income Source

Mystery Man Admits
Checking Washington
Judge For J. L. Lewis

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators today planned a dollar-by-dollar combing of the income, running into six figures, from which mystery man Henry W. Grunewald says he bought costly gifts for federal officials.

Some of it came from an investigation conducted for United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis, Grunewald testified yesterday, and some came from betting on the horses.

He refused to disclose the nature of the services he said he performed for Lewis at a time when the mine workers' president was in trouble with the federal courts.

Grunewald said Sen. Bridges (R-NH) introduced him to a Lewis attorney, Lowell Mayberry, who hired him and paid him. Bridges for a time was a trustee of the mine workers' welfare fund, at $35,000 a year.

Asked About Probe

Rep. Boggs (D-La.), reading from a transcript of previous closed sessions of a House ways and means subcommittee, asked Grunewald if he did not make "several trips and several inquiries" with respect to the late Judge T. Alan Goldsborough.

Grunewald refused to answer, saying the question was "not pertinent."

Goldsborough, a federal district judge here, fined Lewis's mine workers three million dollars in 1947 for failure to heed his order that they call off a strike and go back to work. At the time, the government had seized the soft coal mines.

Boggs then asked: "After you completed your investigation of Judge Goldsborough, you were paid a fee of $16,000?"

Wouldn't Answer
"Offhand, I don't know," Grunewald replied, saying Mayberry was the one to answer. Mayberry could not be located in New York for comment.

This exchange took place before a House subcommittee which has been investigating the Internal Revenue Bureau. For his previous refusals to answer the group's

Plane Missing In Western Mountain Area

SEATTLE (AP)—A twin-engine transport plane from Florida, with an unknown number of persons aboard, vanished in the rugged Cascade Mountain region east of here before dawn today. Officials said the last radio reports told of an engine failure and indicated the pilot was lost.

Confusion whirled around the number of persons aboard as a wide scale search got under way. Reports ran from a top of 27 persons when the non-schedule carrier left Miami to a Washington state aeronautics director's report of 13 to 15.

A report of 22 passengers and five crewmen came from Charles S. Collar, Civil Aeronautics Board investigator at Miami.

Collar, Washington aeronautics director, said advice he received from the east indicated the plane carried 10 or 12 passengers and a crew of three, including a stewardess, when it left Spokane, Wash.

Chester said some of the large number of passengers originally reported on the plane may have left it en route.

A Spokane report indicated none of the passengers left the plane there, however.

The Spokane report indicated most of the passengers, if not all, might be soldiers. That probably would mean they were men who had stayed at home as long as possible and were flying to Seattle to embark for the Far East. That is the destination of most soldiers flying to Seattle.

Recruiting Sergeant To Be At Postoffice

T-Sgt. Irvin Pheganelli of the U. S. Air Force will be in the recruiting office at the Salem Postoffice every Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. to advise all persons interested in the new Air Force career program.

Pheganelli said that he also will have the latest information on the Reserve program and on the procedure in establishing a Reserve unit here.

THEY SPELLED THE HARD ONES—Two eighth graders stood alone out of 12 starters after two hours of spelling at New Waterford School Monday afternoon in the county school system's Spelling Bee. They will represent the county schools in the Steubenville finals May 1.

Lorin Ruff, assistant county school superintendent, presents first and second place medals to (left to right) first place winner Judith Brown of West Local and second place winner Edna Rea of United Local.

Emerge Victorious After 2-Hour Word Battle

West, United Local Girls Win County Spelling Bee

Two hours and 512 words were required to determine the two winners in the Columbiana rural school system's Spelling Bee finals held Monday afternoon at the New Waterford School.

Emerging victorious from 12 starting contestants, representing 11 schools, was Judith Brown, an eighth grader at West Local School.

Judith correctly spelled the word "chandelier" after it had been misspelled by Edna Rea, eighth grader at United Local School and the second place winner. She went on to spell "chaotic" to make her the first place winner.

The alternate, Marjorie Shaw, eighth grader at Calcutta, went down minutes before on the word "brevity."

Judith and Edna will represent the county school system at the Steubenville finals May 1, the big event which is co-sponsored by The Salem News.

The two girls received medals signifying first and second place county winners from Lorin Ruff, assistant county school superintendent, immediately following the spelling.

Earlier the same day two Fairfield sixth graders carried away the county junior titles. Winners in the fifth and sixth grade division were Ethel Marshall, and Laverne Kesler.

The first place winner in the seventh and eighth grade division is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown of RD 1, Kensington. Edna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rea of RD 3, Salem.

Judges for the spelling were Rev. George Ramsey, Mrs. Wayne Ruppert and Mrs. Dale Wolfgang, all of New Waterford.

Rev. Charles McCrae of Calcutta was official pronouncer.

Jaycees Donate $500 To Swim Pool Fund

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has donated $500 to the Kiwanis swimming pool fund. The money was raised through the sale of front license plates and other Jaycee activities of the year.

The donation brings the fund to $64,520.81 in cash and $3,110 in pledges for a total of $67,630.81.

Persons who have pledged money are urged by the swimming pool committee to turn it in as soon as possible so that the goal of $75,000 for the pool can be reached quickly.

Work is already well underway at the pool and Kiwanis hopes it will be finished by July.

The Jaycees still have some license plates for sale.

Ohio Soldier Dies Of Injuries In Shooting

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP)—An Army spokesman said Pvt. Terry O. Gettings, 23, of Toledo, O., died Monday of injuries received a week ago in an accidental shooting during a training maneuver.

The spokesman said Gettings was in a foxhole when another soldier jokingly pointed at him a rifle loaded with blank ammunition. The spokesman said the rifle accidentally went off and Gettings was wounded.

Wilson's Plan To Cut Bomber Plants Opposed

Secretary Reported
Seeking To Build Up
Fighter Plane Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports of developing resistance to Secretary of Defense Wilson's air policies filtered through the Pentagon's newly reinforced secrecy curtain today.

Officers refuse to discuss the issues publicly, but it is known that some Air Force and aviation industry leaders have taken alarm over reports that Wilson is backing proposals to:

(1) Cut jet bomber production sharply; (2) build up defenses by concentrating on production of fighters and guided missiles; and (3) Rely primarily on a relatively small aircraft industry operating at high production rates.

Wilson is reported to place less emphasis than did his predecessor on the idea of creating a broad productive base and maintaining at comparatively low level a large productive capacity.

Favors Reliance On Conversion

He has told reporters that in case of a national emergency he favors reliance on quick conversion of civilian plants to military production, and establishment of new military production facilities as the need might arise.

Opponents of this plan, in the Air Force and in the industry, say that while it would be more economical now to close down unneeded plants and limit production to a comparative few, the nation cannot again afford to risk production delays that would result from attempts to re-convert or to build anew in time of war.

No Comment On Reports
Reports from the Pentagon—neither confirmed nor denied by defense spokesmen—are that Wilson plans to:

1. Lop 400 six-engine B47s off the Air Force's production program. This would wipe out activity at Lockheed's Marietta, Ga., plant and at the Douglas Tulsa, Okla., division, and would limit B47 production to Boeing's plant at Wichita, Kas.

2. Reduce the major B52 production program getting under way at Seattle to perhaps less than 20 of the giant eight-jet bombers.

High School Band To Give Spring Concert

The Salem High School band, under direction of Howard Pardee, will present its annual spring concert at the High School auditorium May 11.

This was disclosed at a meeting of the Band Mothers Monday evening at the Memorial Building.

Samuel Krauss, now a member of the Philadelphia Philharmonic Orchestra, organized the Salem High School band 25 years ago. He will be a guest conductor for a portion of the concert program. Chester Brautigham, a former director, also will conduct several numbers.

A reception will be given by the Band Mothers, following the concert.

Fred Ebbs, director of bands at Baldwin-Wallace College, heard of the Salem band practice Monday evening. He stated that "due to the superior direction of Howard Pardee, Salem High School has potentially the best band in the state."

The Band Mothers will take the group to the state contest at Capital University in Columbus April 18. The next meeting will be May 18.

U. S. Steel Rail Strike Is Ended

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—A wildcat strike against a subsidiary railroad of the United States Steel Corp. ended this morning and the firm's two huge plants here are expected to get back into production in a matter of hours.

A pay dispute touched off the walkout by 150 men against the Youngstown & Northern Railroad just a week ago, tying up U. S. Steel's Ohio Works and McDonald Plant.

Details of the settlement were not made public. The Y & N announced merely that difficulties had been ironed out.

Clubs Honored for "Get Out the Vote" Work

ATTORNEY GEORGE BOWMAN, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's committee, presents the plaque to presidents of the four organizations which shared in the Chamber's "Get-Out-the-Vote" award resulting from vote participation last November. Left to right, in addition to Mr. Bowman, are Howard Schaefer, head of the Lions Club; Michael Ulitchny, president of the E. W. Bliss Foreman's Club; J. Raymond Stiver, head of the Rotary Club; and Mrs. Carol Lehwald, president of the Salem Garden Study Club.

George Bowman Jr., chairman of the Chamber's "Get Out the Vote" contest pointed out yesterday at the C. of C. meeting that out of a total of 15 clubs here which participated in the contest, 11 had 90 per cent or better of their membership casting ballots in last year's national election.

He felt that the Chamber's effort paid off since in 1948 only 63 per cent of Salem residents voted as compared to 79.8 per cent in 1952.

Four of the clubs had 100 per cent — Salem Garden Study Club, Lions, Rotary and E. W. Bliss Foreman's Club.

Those which had 90 per cent or better were: Kiwanis, Quota, Chamber of Commerce, Salem Girl Scout Council, Salem Garden Club, Deming Foreman's Club, and Salem Historical Society.

In other business the Chamber voted to go on record against the proposed Ohio ton-mile tax.

Sleeping Pill Sale Blasted

Drug Sale Linked To Juvenile Delinquency

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sale of sleeping pills and other drugs has been described by government officials as an "acute" problem linked with juvenile delinquency in a great many communities.

Commissioner C. W. Crawford of the Food and Drug Administration, in testimony to the House Appropriations Committee, said his agency's inspectors have run into serious problems in the field in Dallas, Houston, New Orleans, Boston, Denver and Seattle.

Crawford's testimony was made public by the committee today.

There are 55,000 retail drug stores and an undetermined number of other sources of sleeping pills and other drugs—all dangerous

Sent To Prison On Two Morals Charges

LISBON — Orah Brown, 44, of Lisbon RD 4, was sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary for terms of 10 years and 1-20 years Monday afternoon in common pleas court by Judge Joel H. Sharp.

Brown, who was found guilty in February on a morals charge, was banded the 1-10 year term for incest and the second term for rape. The terms are to run concurrently.

Brown was sentenced after his return from the Lima State Hospital where he was found to be neither psychotic, mentally defective or psychopathic, according to the report by Dr. R. E. Bushong, superintendent.

Meanwhile, Judge Sharp referred Harold Deeley, 49, of Wellsville, to probate court after giving the youth a 1-10 year suspended sentence in the Mansfield Reformatory on a morals charge.

Probate Judge Louis Tobin said a hearing to commit the youth to the state school at Columbus will be held Thursday.

Legal Battle Over Kelley Park Enters Second Day In Court

The city of Salem's legal fight to obtain Kelley Memorial Park moved into its second day today at Common Pleas Court at Lisbon with former safety-service director, Frank Wilson, called to the stand this morning by City Solicitor W. J. Hunston.

The case started yesterday afternoon but moved slowly as only one witness, former city solicitor, Henry Reese testified. Wilson had been called to the stand yesterday but attorneys from both sides became involved in disputes over legal technicalities and court was adjourned shortly afterward.

Judge Frank Cope of Carrollton, who is presiding, told the attorneys, "This case has legal problems—no end."

Reese, called by the city, said he was in office at the time the city and the owners entered into the lease for use of the 5.4-acre tract for a public park. The owners and defendants in the case are Andrew and Catherine Martin and Gus H. and Alfreda N. Bauman.

The former solicitor said when the lease was drawn up the amount of the purchase price, if the city decided to exercise the option of buying the tract, was left blank. He said this was done because Mr. Martin discussed with him the thought of just donating the land to the city.

Reese said finally the $200 figure was decided on between them and inserted into the lease. Reese said he did not discuss the matter with the other owners. At that time the lease had not been signed by any of the owners.

The lease was signed on August, 1947, and in 1951 the city attempted to exercise its option. The owners refused to sell claiming that a breach had been made in the contract.

Salem Council then authorized the court action to force the owners to carry out the provisions of the lease.

Attorney Lozier Caplan is defense attorney.

Lisbon School Board Approves Bus Purchase

LISBON — The Lisbon Board of Education authorized Superintendent V. J. Ullman to make application for another school bus at the monthly meeting held Monday night at the High School.

The board purchased four buses last year after hiring buses to transport students for three years. The fifth bus is needed because of increased enrollment.

The board tabled bids received for the purchase of shop equipment. Clerk John Chilik said the board had wanted three bids but received only two.

The board approved a list of teachers to be retained for next year.

Allied Planes Guard Route Of Motor Convoy

20 Vehicles Carry
U. N. Disabled; More
To Leave Tomorrow

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Allied planes flew guard today over the route of the first Red motor convoy carrying sick and wounded U. N. war prisoners slowly toward freedom.

An Air Force spokesman said the air sentinels and special, secret precautions made a mistake bombing virtually impossible.

The reconnaissance planes patrolled through the day over thick clouds hiding North Korean roads. The Reds said the 20-vehicle convoy was the first to start the long trip from North Korean prison camps to Panmunjom, where 600 Allied POWs will be traded for 5,800 Chinese and Communists beginning Monday.

Two more convoys were to leave North Korea tomorrow at daybreak.

The U. N. probably will start moving its 700 Chinese and 5,100 North Korean sick and wounded by train this weekend. The 320-mile trip from Pusan to Munsan takes about 15 hours. From Munsan, the POWs will be taken to Panmunjom by ambulance.

A South Korean Defense Ministry spokesman said the 450 South Koreans being returned will have to be "reindoctrinated" possibly for six months to free them from any effects of Communist teachings.

"Some of them must have been indoctrinated . . ." he said, "and they will have to be reindoctrinated before they are freed to go back to their communities."

The Communists still were await-

Business Trend Is Indefinite, C. Of C. Hears

Dr. Addison T. Cutler, trade economist of the Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank, who spoke at the Monday noon meeting of the Salem Chamber of Commerce in the Lape Hotel, portrayed three possible prospects concerning imminent American business trends.

The first prospect, he said, is that there may be a slight drop of pace in production, with a leveling off for the remainder of 1953 and 1954.

The second may be a recurrence of the 1949 economic readjustment, wherein our economy may require a few months to readjust to civilian production following the government's reduction of its military expansion program.

The third, and least likely prospect—but one that must be considered in view of the heavy volume of sales recorded during the first three months of this year—is that our economy may reach new highs.

Areas such as Salem, which is characterized by the production of both "hard" and "soft" goods, will not feel a change in economy as quickly as regions which are predominantly hard goods producers, he said.

With the prospect of curtailed government spending and tax reduction, Dr. Cutler said, many industries will be able to invest in new plant equipment and expand in civilian phases of production, he declared. Up to now, he declared, high taxes absorbed business' surplus capital.

Dr. Cutler emphasized that shifting from a military to a civilian economy is a slow process.

Says Economic Footing Sound

Senator Defends New Higher Bond Interest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), replying to Democratic suggestions that the Eisenhower administration may be heading the country toward a depression, said today the national economy is on a sound footing.

Capehart, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, spoke out after a new Democratic blast at higher U. S. bond interest rates.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey yesterday announced a new bond issue which appeared, from signs in Wall Street and Washington, likely to be heavily oversubscribed.

Capehart said he sees no factors in the present economic situation that should bring any recession and none indicating any increase in inflationary pressures.

"Payrolls are the biggest in our national history, the government still is spending about a billion dollars a week on the defense program and while farm prices have dropped, they seem to have leveled off," he said in an interview.

However, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) joined eight other Democrats and independent Sen. Morse of Oregon in declaring that a boost in interest rates on government bonds, ordered by Humphrey, already is operating to tighten credit for farmers and small businessmen and may bring an economic recession.

"Because of the Treasury's action, interest rates are going up all over the country," Sparkman said. "That means it not only is going to cost more for the farmer or small businessman to borrow money but in a great many instances it means that the banks won't make the loans at all. That already is happening."

Sparkman said he estimated the increase in private spending rates, as a consequence of the Treasury's action in offering 30-year bonds at 3 1/4 per cent interest, would cost the average small home buyer $8.33 a month more on his installment payments.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) was a leader of the group of nine senators who issued yesterday a statement denouncing the interest rate, highest on such an issue since 1933.

Sen. Humphrey told the Senate the Treasury's action "contains germs of a new depression." He contended all the signs indicate "that deflation and not inflation is the current problem."

"Farm prices have been falling substantially since July and are under continuing pressure," he said. "All wholesale prices have been falling steadily since August. Consumer prices peaked out in August."

Secretary Humphrey ignored the suggestion of Sen. Humphrey's group that the Treasury withdraw the bond offer until he has "advised and consulted with the policy-making branch of the government—the Congress."

But he issued a statement saying that inflationary forces are still present and declaring that the higher cost to the government, in higher interest payments on a portion of the national debt, "will be offset many times over if it lessens the cost and disorganization of inflation."

Misses Sunday School Only Once In 25 Years

Mrs. Lucy Phillis Has Envious Record At Goshen Church

By PEARL WALKER

Rain or shine, hot or cold weather, her loyalty never lags.

Mrs. Lucy Lantz Phillis, member of the East Goshen Friends Active Bible Class has attained an attendance record which is believed to be unequalled in this part of the state. She has only missed one Bible School session in 25 years, and that was because of illness in the family.

A Bible School enthusiast, she is always in the class on time with her lesson prepared. When traveling she makes it an opportunity to visit other schools. Mrs. Phillis has served on the School's Board of Christian Education for approximately 10 years.

Reared in Salem, Mrs. Phillis attended the Christian and Episcopal Bible Schools in her girlhood.

Prior to her marriage to Kenneth Phillis, she was employed by the Salem Publishing Co. They lived on a farm northwest of Salem until his death in January, 1928. Since then she has resided with her only daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Malmesbury and family on Malmesbury Rd., off Route 165.

Mr. Malmesbury is superintendent of the East Goshen Bible School, having held this post for approximately 20 years. He succeeded his father, the late Arvine J. Malmesbury, who was superintendent for 20 years. The late Rev. George B. Malmesbury, grandfather of the present superintendent, was pastor of the Goshen Friends Church 20 years.

J. G. PIM, 80, teacher of the Active Class, has served in this capacity for about 45 years. Four other octogenarians who are active in the school at the present time are Mrs. Joseph Pim, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wise and Mrs. Mary Myers. Mr. Wise has taught an adult class 18 years.

One missionary and three ministers have gone out from this school. The missionary — Rev. Charles Matti, has a 25-year service record with the Friends China Mission. He is now pastor of the Urbana Friends Church. Ministers are Rev. Chester Stanley of Columbus, Rev. Lowell Shreve, pastor of the Raisin Center Friends Church, Adrian, Mich., and his brother, Rev. Lynn Shreve, who is affiliated with the American Sunday School Union.

As superintendent, Mrs. Charles A. Malmesbury has directed the work of the Cradle Roll department for 17 years. Curtis Santee, treasurer, has held this office for 34 years, while Mrs. Santee has been on the teaching staff 17 years. Mr. and Mrs. Santee are the parents of Mrs. Harold B. Winn, wife of Rev. Winn and director of the Salem First Friends choir. She was also a member of this school. Eli Phillips and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Floyd Phillips have been teaching 18 and 16 years, respectively. Mrs. L. L. Stratton, a teacher for 15 years, is now an assistant teacher.

Ralph C. Coppock, president of the Ohio Yearly Meeting, was a member at one time.

THE GOSHEN Friends Church, one of the oldest in this area, traces its history back to 1812. The edifice is three miles northeast of Belmont on Route 165.

The first log church, 15 by 24 feet, burned one Sunday morning in 1812, after the fire had been made in preparation for the worship service. It was replaced by a hewn log building until one made of brick was erected in 1826. The present and fourth church used by this congregation was built in 1882.

This property was deeded to the Friends by Thomas and Priscilla Stanley, great grandparents of Mrs. Joseph Pim, who is still active in church affairs.

Remodeling of the present building was begun in February, 1951, under the direction of the present pastor, Rev. Howard W. Moore.

Ministers who have served this church include Ann Langstaff, Lydia McConnell, Susanna Stratton, Abram Morris, George G. Malmesbury, Gurney Lee, Orlando Tomlinson, L. J. Rugg, Paul B. Lindley, Isaac Stratton, Charles Bailey, Chester Powell, Omar and Nelva Jacobs, Harlan Mosher, Kenneth Carey and Harley Bowerman.

Vandenberg Forced To Resign Position

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—An attack of stomach ulcers has caused Arthur H. Vandenberg Jr. to withdraw his appointment as White House appointment secretary.

Vandenberg, one of President Eisenhower's campaign aides and a son of the late Michigan senator, said he didn't know how long the ulcers would hang on and added: "The uncertainty was unfair to the President."

Vandenberg said rumors of trouble between himself and the President were "definitely not true."

He said he had almost recovered after a month at Miami Beach and plans to leave tomorrow for New York to resume his job as consultant for Nelson A. Rockefeller's International Basic Economy Corp., a private investment firm operating in foreign countries.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

Although President Eisenhower defied precedent and some of his own party leaders by placing a labor man in his Cabinet, the AFL has just unleashed a drive for millions of dollars to finance a political campaign to take Congress from the Republicans in 1954.

So little effect has the appointment of AFL Plumbers' leader Martin Durkin as secretary of labor had, that the Federation's political directors waited less than three months to say that Gen. Eisenhower's efforts to break the AFL from the Democratic party have failed.

It was said bluntly the other day by the AFL's political league director, Jim McDevitt: "We have no choice about remaining in politics. Politicians are realists. They know it is best to appease strong opposition. They feel that it is safe to kick only those who won't or cannot fight back."

FROM THE rest of the statement which launched the drive for a dollar a man from each of the AFL's official 8,000,000 members, it seemed apparent that the labor men believed the Durkin appointment and other concessions were merely an effort to keep them out of the '54 campaign.

Hundreds of union headquarters in this area are beginning to receive special fund-raising literature, along with the official statement that half the money raised will go for Sen. Paul Douglas' drive for re-election.

Similarly, AFL unions all over the industrial sectors, as well as in the Southern states, received appeals to raise hundreds of thousands of dollars for such energetic New Dealers as Senators Hubert Humphrey, Estes Kefauver, John Sparkman, James Murray and Matthew Neely, who will also be aided by John Lewis' political league.

Furthermore, there is direct warning in McDevitt's statement that the Federation plans to go into party primary elections next spring—which means it will seek to influence Democratic and Republican nominations as well as to elect labor's friends.

TO DO THIS effectively, the AFL political strategists decided to start their fund raising—and set up a women's section under a full-time distaff director to go after "wives, mothers and daughters" of all members—right now, less than three months after Martin Durkin's appointment to the Cabinet.

This AFL move will strengthen the conservatives in the Republican party who have been quietly warning President Eisenhower to treat the AFL as he has the CIO.

In effect, this bloc in the Republican party has said to President Eisenhower: "You're heading for disillusionment. Last spring the public, among other things, voted against the labor leaders as well as Adlai Stevenson. Now you're backing the AFL against the CIO. And the AFL is twice as powerful as CIO, although the CIO is heard from more dramatically and regularly. That's because of CIO's nationwide bargaining which either threatens or actually results in headline-making national strikes.

But the AFL, working on a regional basis, for example, in powerful Teamsters or Construction Trades Councils, is just as active and is bigger than CIO. So you are actually backing and strengthening the more influential labor people who will eventually oppose you anyway."

HOWEVER, the President has leaned more on the Dewey camp for strategy. From the very early days after the election, labor policy has been made by a group consisting of Sen. Irving Ives, Gov. Thomas Dewey, "chief of staff" Sherman Adams, UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge (who now is absorbed completely by his U.N. chores) and Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell.

It was this group which devised

Bitter Fighting Erupts Along Korean Front

SEOUL (AP)—Small-scale but savage fighting erupted along the Korean battlefield today while Allied warplanes streaked through cloudy North Korean skies to blast Communist communication and supply lines.

Eight B29 Superforts guarded by swift jet fighters dumped bombs on the 30-acre main rail yards at Pyongyang, North Korea's capital, in the day's biggest strike.

Tough South Korean infantrymen smashed two Communist attacks against Texas Hill in Central Korea, focal point of bitter fighting for the past week. The ROKs recaptured the strategic knob and beat back three Red counterattacks Sunday.

Other South Koreans killed 68

Communists in smashing a two-prong attack by 150 to 175 Reds on sister outposts north of the Punchbowl on the Eastern Front. The Eighth Army said the Communist attackers were cut up and driven back in a two-hour battle.

Smaller Chinese units hit American main-line positions southwest of Old Baldy on the Western Front. Both attacks were stopped cold.

Eighth Army headquarters announced that the 1st British Commonwealth division is back on the battle line after 10 weeks in reserve. The division is fighting on the Western Front.

The battleship New Jersey, two destroyers and Navy planes clobbered the east coast city of Chongjin in a tremendous sea and air attack Monday.

An entire industrial sector was knocked out and smoke belled several thousand feet. The whole area was left ablaze. An important result of the day-long attack was destruction of a telephone exchange that was a key link in the enemy's communication net in Northeast Korea, the Navy said.

Indian Couple Guilty Of Killing 2 Children

YREKA, Calif. (AP)—Allie Davis and Louise Steve, Indians of Some Bar, Calif., were found guilty yesterday of killing her two small children by bashing them against the floor of their house at a drinking party Oct. 15.

A Siskiyou County Superior Court jury found both guilty of murder in the first degree—Davis for killing 2-year-old Martinez Shoemaker, Miss Steve's son by a previous common law husband, and Miss Steve for killing Stanley Steve, her son by Davis.

Official Orders Milk Deliveries Resumed

BOSTON (AP)—Milk deliveries to thousands of Eastern Massachusetts homes and retail outlets resumed today after Gov. Herter halted a four-day strike of 1,800 AFL employees at 12 dairies under a law aimed at protecting public health.

The 1947 law — known as the Slichter Act—which the governor invoked last night calls for a "cooling off" period of at least 45 days in labor disputes which affect public health or safety. During this period the state takes steps to bring about a settlement.

The 12 milk companies affected want to renew current contracts with one change: elimination of Sunday deliveries. The union wants to continue Sunday deliveries, and also asks a wage hike.

Why Not Baseball?

Perhaps it's the weather, or it may be the plight of the Browns out in St. Louis, but the beginning of a new baseball season in 1953 does not seem to call for the usual rhapsodizing.

There is more to baseball than the embodiment of the American way of life in 1953. A new season does not wash away all worries and misgivings about the state of the world. The umpire's call, "Play Ball!" is not the signal to concentrate on something more vital than the cold war.

Organized baseball has a bat hanging over its head, and until something is done about it no baseball news ever can be free from ominous overtones. The bat is a suspicion which has taken root in Congress that professional baseball may be a monopoly operating in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

Everything about the game, except the game itself, is powerfully affected by fear of Congressional action. If that makes baseball truly the national game — if fear of Congressional action is a way of life—then all is well. If not, Congress should clear up baseball's status under the law. If labor unions can be exempt from the anti-trust laws, why not baseball?

Caution: Housecleaning

If Herbert Hoover knows anything about government reorganization—and he directed the plan for bringing efficiency to Washington—he should know something about the Eisenhower administration's progress in that direction.

It seems significant, therefore, that Mr. Hoover says the new administration is making progress. He says the "mess" in Washington is being cleaned up. Perhaps this is a proper time to remember that housecleaning is a tough, hard ordeal.

Tempers fray out, and things get mislaid. Wires get crossed, and the meals are nothing to brag about. People say things they regret later. But eventually things are smoothed out and reorganized. There is a proper place for everything, and everything is in its proper place.

Every married man knows how it works. Married men know better than to expect miracles, though near-miraculous results appear when the job is finished.

This is the first housecleaning government has had in a generation. Those who are "wedded" to the idea that a cleaning was needed should strive for married-man patience in awaiting the results.

48 Sovereign States

Forget Malenkov and Korea for a moment. Forget left wings and right wings. Concentrate on this fact:

That the United States, which is still the boldest experiment in government after 164 years of trial and error, was intended to be a federation of sovereign states.

President Eisenhower's decision to call the governors of the states to Washington on May 4 and 5 for consultation on national affairs goes back to first principles. It is a typical gesture by a man who believes his countrymen have wandered away from first principles.

It is more important in its implications than any of the things currently supposed to be important. If the United States could learn how to govern itself better, it could quit being apprehensive of its ability to survive against a credo of government which goes back to the principles of Ivan the Terrible.

The United States then would do flawlessly what its founding fathers believed they had guaranteed in the Constitution—a national government of sovereign states supported by a sovereign people.

Posterity, Be Merciful

Seven sculptured heads dug up at the site of ancient Jericho have set off such a frenzy of conclusion — jumping among archaeologists that the darkest fears of modern times are being rekindled.

Suppose archaeologists in another 5,000 years were to excavate a truckload of modern sculptures depicting human beings as blobs of flesh with wires sprouting out of their ears. Conclusion-jumping would be rife.

The wisest heads among the archaeologists would point knowingly to the relics as proof of someone's contention that 5,000 years ago all men had wires sprouting out of their ears. It's a sobering thought.

The only other kind of statuary likely to be exhumed in 5,000 years now stands on countless public squares. It shows that Americans always rode horseback, wore frock coats, or carried guns.

Many of them wore strange headgears peculiar to wars which will have been forgotten in 5,000 years. And without exception they were jut-jawed and beetle-browed, as was befitting men of heroic importance.

Let us hope men may be smart enough in another 5,000 years not to jump to foolish conclusions on the basis of fragmentary evidence.

Britain On Far East

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Recognition Of Mao Held Secondary Issue

It is an open secret here that relations between the United States and Great Britain are not as good as they ought to be and that differences on Far Eastern policy are at the root of the difficulty. So it is an important step when the British ambassador to the United States, acting undoubtedly under instructions from the British Foreign Office, makes a speech endeavoring to inform American public opinion on the British view.

Some of his statements are most surprising and will no doubt come in for critical analysis here if only to straighten out the record. "One does not have to be long in this country," says Sir Roger Makins, the new British ambassador, "to realize the depth of feeling which exists on certain aspects of British policy in the Far East but which, in our view, are essentially secondary to the main issues."

I refer, of course, to British recognition of Communist China and to British trade policy in regard to China.

"It is a fact that the British government recognized the Communist government of China in Peking in January 1950 before there was any aggression in Korea. But, in any case, for us recognition does not imply approval."

We recognized only the indisputable fact that the government in Peking was exercising effective control of the mainland of China.

"It has long been established that the doctrine of recognition of another government does not signify approval of the policies of that government, and it is only recently that the idea has grown up that a moral issue is involved. No one supposed that the recognition of the Soviet government by the United States government or my own government implies that the U.S. government approves of Soviet Communism."

But what are the facts as diplomatic history reveals them? Normally, as changes in governmental structure occur where a dominant faction has achieved control of the territory of a country, recognition is automatically extended and of course no approval or any new regime is intended. But there have been many cases in which not only a "moral issue" but international legal issues are involved. One of these relates to the capacity of a government seeking recognition to discharge its obligations internationally, as, for example, in the protection afforded nationals of other countries and in the behavior of agents of that government on foreign soil.

Many Americans — and perhaps some of the experts in the British foreign office who help to draft memoranda for ambassadorial speeches — have doubtless forgotten that the United States from 1917 to 1933 refused to give diplomatic recognition to the Soviet government. Recognition finally did come under the Roosevelt administration only after a formal agreement which definitely set forth certain pledges by the Russian government not to allow her citizens to engage in subversive activities inside the United States. These pledges have been flagrantly violated since and warrant the movement in Congress recently begun which demands that recognition now be withdrawn because of a breach of faith.

Nobody can deny that during all the 17 years when the United States withheld diplomatic recognition the Communist government was in undisputed possession of all the territory of Soviet Russia. So this is by no means the only consideration in according recognition.

It will be recalled also that the Chinese Communist government has mistreated foreigners ever since its accession to military power. The story of the ordeals of British citizens and American consular representatives is well known.

But what rankles in informed quarters in America is the impression that Great Britain, a working partner of the United States in world affairs, didn't play ball with Washington and despite representations about delay from our State Department went ahead on her own in January 1950 with the diplomatic recognition of the Communists in China.

Now there may be an unpublished chapter which in fairness to Britain ought to be clarified. There have been reports that the British Foreign Office when discussing the subject of recognizing Communist China prior to January 1950 did get the definite idea from our State Department that Secretary Acheson planned soon thereafter to recognize Communist China anyway and was thwarted in that plan by the furore which arose after his speech, also in January 1950, at the National Press Club in which he practically wrote off Korea and was lukewarm about Formosa.

If the British acted with American consent or acquiescence, then the blame cannot be placed on London. If they didn't, the Foreign Office blundered.

As for British trade with the Communists, the British ambassador minimizes it with this rather equivocal statement that since June 1950: "No arms or munitions of war have ever been sold to the Chinese Communists from a British territory."

The question is what are "munitions" of war and what is "British territory?"

Ceylon is an independent member of the British Commonwealth and now supplies a huge amount of rubber to help make tires for military vehicles such as trucks which carry shells to kill American boys in Korea.

Also the ambassador must know that what is exported to Russia from "the sources controlled by the United Kingdom" helps to make the munitions that are supplied by Soviet Russia to the Chinese Communists — and Russia has now publicly admitted giving that help.

Only last Saturday, a London press dispatch transmitted an announcement by the International Rubber Study Group stating that imports of natural rubber by Soviet Russia were 17,500 tons and imports by Communist China were 11,500 tons in the first two months of this year. On a yearly basis this means about 180,000 tons of natural rubber for the Communists — plenty with which to meet the necessities of the Far Eastern war and the preparations of the Red Army for European adventures. This is equal to 40 per cent of all the natural rubber consumed in the United States last year.

We spend billions to train and equip a NATO Army — but Soviet Russia gets war materials just the same.

Get A Parakeet

By DOROTHY ROE

As a cure for the national divorce problem, Will Gerber suggests:

"Give your mother-in-law a parakeet. Then she'll have something to love, and won't have to be jealous of the daughter or son-in-law who has robbed her nest."

A dealer in all kinds of animals, from elephants to canaries, Gerber explains:

"Everybody wants to be loved, and the little, brightly plumed parakeet is chock full of love, if you give him a chance to show it. He'll perch on your shoulder, come with you to the breakfast table, keep you company while you're washing the dishes and talk to you when you're lonely. He's a perfect companion for invalids, elderly people and lonely women."

This is the reason, he says, U.S. citizens are buying 10,000 parakeets a week nowadays—more than a half million a year. At an average price of $10 each, that's five million dollars worth of the little love birds or "budgies," as they also are called. Add to this the sale of cages, food, toys and gadgets in which parakeet owners invest and you have probably a $50 million industry.

It's easy to teach a parakeet to talk, if you start early and have plenty of patience, says Gerber. Many develop vocabularies of 30 words, by no means limited to the "Polly-wants-a-cracker" routine. Here's how to do it:

"Begin when your parakeet is from four weeks to nine months old. You can't teach him to talk until he is tame. The quickest way to do this is through the stomach. Take the food from his cage at night, in the morning tempt him with a few seeds adhering to your finger. Use easy gestures. If he is hungry enough he will eat from your finger. If he doesn't, try it again the next morning. When he hops to a finger to eat you'll know you're having success."

"Right from the beginning select one word or two to say to him, clearly and distinctly. Always say the same word or words. Keep saying the same phrase over and over. Let everyone in the family address him with the same word or phrase."

"When at last he speaks, the words may be blurred. But keep repeating them, and with each attempt he will speak more clearly."

"Let Me Help"

Protecting The Constitution

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Because the United States has become involved in a vast structure of unusual treaties, of which the Charter of the United Nations is an example, and of which the Covenant on Human Rights may some day present a problem, Sen. John W. Bricker and 63 other senators have introduced a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, designed to safeguard the rights of the American people under that document.

A TREATY, signed and ratified, becomes the law of the land. The Constitution, as it now stands, refers to this subject as follows:

"This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby, any thing in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding."

While lawyers may argue over the exact meaning of this provision, the actual effect is that treaty may alter federal, state and municipal laws. In the case of Fujii v. California, an intermediate court applied provisions of the Charter of the United Nations to outlaw a long existing California state law.

THIS WAS local legislation; yet it was vetoed by the results of an international conference which, having worked out a treaty, destroyed the rights of a state which Congress could not do under the Constitution.

John Foster Dulles commented on this question in Louisville, Kentucky before he became secretary of state:

"The treaty-making power is an extraordinary power, liable to abuse. Treaties make international law and also they make domestic law. Under our Constitution, treaties become the supreme law of the land. They are, indeed, more supreme than ordinary laws for Congressional laws are invalid if they do not conform to the Constitution, whereas treaty law can override the Constitution."

"Treaties, for example, can take powers away from the Congress and give them to the president; they can take powers from the states and give them to the federal government or to some international body, and they can cut across the rights given the people by the constitutional Bill of Rights."

This, it seems, is a correct view of the situation as it now exists and that Sen. Bricker's amendment is designed to correct. Mr. Dulles' view is accepted by most constitutional lawyers.

THE FIRST three provisions of the proposed amendment read: "Section 1—A provision of a treaty which denies or abridges any right enumerated in this Constitution shall not be of any force or effect."

"Sec. 2—No treaty shall authorize or permit any foreign power or any international organization to supervise, control, or adjudicate rights of citizens of the United States within the United States enumerated in this Constitution or any other matter essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of the United States."

"Sec. 3—A treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only through the enactment of appropriate legislation by the Congress."

The fourth provision deals with "executive or other agreements" and applies the same rule to them.

OUR NEW international associations require some fundamental adjustments in the relationship of treaties to our political structure as defined by the Constitution.

It was never intended that the United Nations, for instance, should legislate for the American people or abridge their rights. While it may be sound to join such an organization, it cannot be proper that by the mere act of joining it, even by treaty, the relations between citizen and government in this country should be altered.

It is interesting to note that no other country that is a member of an international organization is altogether bound by a treaty as the United States is.

Most countries have to implement treaties by acts of legislation or by decree.

In the United States, however, all the provisions of a treaty become ipso facto the law of the land once the treaty is ratified by the Senate. Then it may lie fallow until it reaches the Supreme Court in a specific case. The Court by its decision applies the treaty specifically.

It would seem that the conflict of powers could best and most speedily be resolved if the Bricker amendment were passed and ratified by the States. There is no sound reason for delay.

The Silky Way

By TRUMAN TWILL

And so it came about, in the competition for business, that cigarettes finally were 14 inches long and stuffed with something which not only was less harmful than the other manufacturer's stuffing but beneficial for man and beast.

As the king-size yielded to the dictator-size and kept adding length until it became the plus ultra size, tobacco was abandoned altogether. That was the great discovery of the second half of the 20th century — that tobacco had been the source of all the trouble the cigaret manufacturers had in the first half. They should have looked for something better.

So the way to avoid trouble was to find something else. There was a frenzied scramble to discover something which would go in smoke without any of the bads ones which had been preying on the ad writers' minds. No one ever thought of these before the ad writers went to work.

They finally became so real and vivid that all of them were scared to smoke any more tobacco. They had spent so many years and so many millions of dollars touting smokers off the harmful effects of their competition's product that they believed their own slogans.

This was made easier than it might have been by their realization that no matter what color the package was, tobacco was tobacco. It was like so much spinach, which was given serious consideration as substitutes. But spinach already had been given a whirl.

What finally was found to be perfect was corn silk. The demand for corn silk grew to such proportions that horticulturists finally developed a kind of corn which produced nothing but silk—no corn. The idea for this came from a junior vice president in one of the cigaret companies who had heard his grandfather laugh about smoking corn-silk cigarettes behind out-buildings when he mentioned this in a sales meeting one day and the idea caught on like wildfire, or Bull Durham as they say in the trade. The J. V. P. was given a bonus.

Within five years all cigaret companies were converted to mixtures of corn silks from as far north as Alaska, which recently had been admitted as the 79th state, and as far south as Nicaragua, which had come into the union as the 63rd state. Each manufacturer had a special blend.

Excise taxes on corn silk were terrific. A ton of Golden Bantam silk was worth a Hollywood child star's ransom, and a ton of baby silk from Golden Bantam hybrid brought more revenue into the U.S. Treasury than "Oklahoma!"

As corn silk grew in importance, tobacco diminished, until none of it was raised any more except by accident, and the little boys used to hunt for it in fields so they could roll it in pieces of paper and smoke it when they were still too young to smoke corn silk.

The big thing about the silks, as they came to be known, was their soothing effect. People learned to reach for them instead. . .

Especially when they got to be 14 inches long. You could light up a silky and smoke an hour. There were only three in a pack—so fiends who wanted to smoke three packs a day wouldn't have to stay up half the night.

Speaking of U.N., Ima Dodo says she went there the other day to see the fight over the right pronunciation of Dag Hammarskjold.

Bob Taft says the GOP has never done a good publicity job and needs the services of top publicity experts at once. . . . Well, for the past 20 years the only way a publicity man could contact the GOP was through the lost and found columns.

Bunker Hill reverberated and Paul Revere's horse became the first horse to turn over in its grave the other day when an FBI agent, Herbert Philbrick, told a Senate committee that at one important 100 per cent underground Commie meeting held in a mansion in the Beacon Hill area he found the place full of important Bostonians, some of them "men of distinction" in the field of education, law, medicine, government and book publishing. . . . He emphasized that this was a session of sworn agents of Stalin and that he was never more surprised in his life. . . . The Senators barred names until they had first summoned the boys for a private inquiry, but they have the complete list, and if they don't clear themselves the Bostonians will be questioned in the public inquiry, and it will be a real Boston "TV party."

"Room Service" in its revival seems a funnier — than — ever picture of Broadway shoe-string promotions. . . . "Parlor Pink" won a race at Jamaica showing, obviously a radical change but bearing out sharply to the left. . . . (But when called upon in the stretch, the horse didn't refuse to answer.)

Its critics barred by a foolish theater management, the Hartford Courant prints the opinions of outside critics with the simple explanation that the theater otherwise "deprives the public of a right to know the merits of its wares."

Whirlaway, dead at 15 in France, may have been "Mister Longtail" to most American horse lovers but to us he was always "Mister Heart Failure," since he made a habit of looking like a sure loser until the stretch run.

Kenneth Wynne, just named by Governor Lodge to the Connecticut Supreme Court, originally wanted to be a newspaperman and started to work with us back home as a cub reporter. . . . He's not only a great man and jurist but a top writer, and it is our belief he authored the famous Thanksgiving proclamation of Governor "Tobey" Cross, now listed among the classics. . . . He was the governor's secretary at the time.

When the Supreme Court of the U. S., supposed to be made up of the best legal brains, can't come closer than a 4 to 4 tie vote on whether a lawyer who turns courts into rumpus rooms should be barred from practice before the high court, the public is left pretty dizzy. . . . The case was that of an attorney already barred by state courts for turning Judge Medina's court into a sideshow. . . . The tie decision in the Supreme Court are getting so common it would seem one side should give the other points.

Hugging A Dream

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Anybody today who manages even to pay his rent regularly has some kind of a formula to explain his success.

I like Peggy Lee's formula: "Never let go of a dream. Sometimes you don't know yourself when you start winning. Right when you think you're still losing, a jewel is falling into your lap."

Peggy, now one of the nation's top vocalists, had to hug her dream through some long rugged seasons before she worked up to her present $250,000-a-year income. But she never lost faith in herself—or her dream.

"No matter how rough things were they never bothered me," she says now. "It just seemed to me as if I were waiting for the right thing to happen."

Peggy, now a svelte silver-blonde, was a plump little schoolgirl in Jamestown, N. D., when she first began dreaming of becoming a famous singer.

Her name was Norma Egstrom, and one of her jobs was to write way bills in the local railroad station.

"The names on the freight cars stood for the outside world to me," she said. "I knew where they came from, and where they were going to, and I made up my mind at an early age I was going to go to all those places, too."

She never had taken a professional singing lesson. But along with her dream, she had a giant faith in herself—and a stubborn Norwegian-Swedish belief that work will get you what you want. Peggy did all kinds of work from baby sitting to hash-slinging and cooking for harvest hands. Once she doubled as a waitress in a hotel where she also sang as an entertainer.

"I've had a good basic education in living," she said. "There isn't any type of person I can't understand, and that is a big help in singing."

Peggy pawned her high school graduation watch to make her first trip to Hollywood. For a time she got by on 25 cents a day for food. She had to borrow a dress from a beauty shop operator for her first night club engagement.

"But I was too young, too shy to speak up for myself then," she said. Rebuffed in Hollywood she went back to North Dakota broke—but with her dream still undented. She did some more hash-slinging, perfected her singing style in radio work, finally started her real climb to fame as the song bird with Benny Goodman's band. Today Peggy is juke box queen.

has a movie contract, and is one of the highest paid singers on a supper club circuit. She has written some 25 song lyrics, including a number of hits.

She likes to relax by writing poetry—usually at dawn, after finishing a night club singing job—and is also working on a movie script.

"It may be turned down," she said matter-of-factly. "But that won't hurt me. I think that if you believe in something, and don't limit yourself, you can do it."

"Eventually I want to become a writer. I've met so many wonderful people in my life, I'd like to put them down in a way to keep their memory alive."

"You know, people don't realize they can say something to you when you are 10 years old, and maybe 15 years later it will pop up in your mind and pull you out of a tight spot."

"I was very young when someone told me, 'you never know when you start winning,' and that one remark has guided my life ever since."

Peggy lugged her own suitcase on her first trip to Hollywood. The last time she sent out to make a film she had two wardrobe trunks and 32 pieces of hand baggage.

Steubenville Woman
Held For Murder

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. Va. (AP)—Mrs. Lucille Patrick, 26, of Steubenville, O., was charged Monday with the first degree murder of Mrs. Betty Douglas, 30, of Weirton, W. Va.

Mrs. Douglas was fatally shot Sunday morning as she and two companions stood outside a Weirton night club. Luther Harshaw, 25, of Steubenville, and Willie Lee Russell, 35, of Weirton, co-owner of the club, were treated for flesh wounds.

To Study Atomic Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two private companies have been authorized by the Atomic Energy Commission to find out how and when nuclear power can be put into peacetime use.

The AEC said the companies—Pioneer Service and Engineering Company of Chicago and Foster Wheeler Corp. of New York—will conduct a one-year study to determine whether private industry can build an atomic reactor "in the next few years."

On The Ball

By INEZ ROBB

Some of my best friends are political columnists operating out of Washington, D. C., on all the megacycles they can grab.

Inez Robb

Apparently it has not occurred to my Washington conferees that there are signs and portents in the rest of the nation, too. So I will take it from there.

RIGHT IN New York, I have just had a splendid demonstration of how the Republicans are doing, and the report should read "dandy."

My observations were obtained first hand at a commodious and crowded Republican club which I was asked to address a few nights ago.

The invitation still puzzles me, a hereditary Democrat. I can only surmise that word has gotten around that I voted for the GOP boy last November, and am hence regarded as a reputable and semi-reformed character who has one foot on the saw dust trail.

The first exhibit I offer in evidence is the Republican gentleman who called to escort me to the club.

IN BEHALF of the Republican club, he presented me with a corsage which was composed of two costly mauve orchids, or one more than I ever rated in the 20 years of Democratic triumph.

Enroute to the club, he explained that it had just moved into new quarters.

"Boy, were we in a rat's nest before that," he added.

The clubhouse turned out to be a one-time New York mansion, with handsome hand-carved woodwork and hand-painted oil pictures.

Adding up many little signs and portents in the audience, it suddenly struck me that the Republicans at long last are losing their amateur look and status. They are obviously getting the hang of the ropes after being on them for so many years.

THEY HAVE lost that beaten, handgrip look and are beginning to take on the complacency of old pros.

All in all, I looked at this Republican audience and swelled with pride in the American way and the American knack for catching on fast in any situation. Here, in this beautiful club house, it was obvious that the GOP not only had its feet on the ground once more, but its hand on the tiller.

It all adds up to prove, if proof was needed, that the Republicans are in the groove, doing fine and high-balling toward the promised land.

Has anyone looked recently to see if Teapot Dome is still there?

Patrol Stresses
Highway Courtesy

Common courtesy on the part of motorists would lead to far fewer traffic accidents on this area's highways, Cpl. E. W. Mallory, officer in charge of the Salem State Patrol barracks, said today.

Appealing to all drivers for their cooperation in combatting the serious accident situation here by constant practice of courtesy, Cpl. Mallory offered these simple rules for motor manners:

1. Give correct arm signals for lane changes, turns and stops.
2. Drive at speeds that are safe for immediate conditions, even though legal speeds may be higher.
3. Stop completely at stop signs.
4. Drive in — and turn from — the proper lane.
5. Observe passing regulations and no-passing zones.
6. Yield right-of-way to pedestrians and observe mid-block crosswalks.
7. Stop when approaching standing school buses until safe to proceed.
8. Exercise special caution at highway-rail intersections.
9. Refuse to drive after drinking.
10. Drive defensively, anticipating what other drivers and pedestrians may do.

It is believed that sugar cane first came from India or the South Pacific islands where it still grows wild.

Doctor Draft Quota
Cut By Defense Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department has cut its May doctor draft quota from 400 to 200, but ordered 266 doctors and 145 dentists inducted in June.

The May quota for dentists was left at 195.

Selective service said it was ordering local draft boards to stop physical examinations and inductions of "Priority 3" doctors born before Aug. 31, 1922. The priority includes those who had no World War II service and received no government aid in their medical education.

County Concert Association Launches Membership Drive

The week-long membership drive of the Northern Columbiana County Community Concert Association got off to a good start Monday night with dinner at the Presbyterian Church at which Mrs. Edith P. LeRoy from Chicago, national representative of Community Concerts, told of the beginning and the aims of the organization.

Mrs. Leroy will assist the seventh annual drive of the association and will also help in the selection of talent for the coming 1953-54 season.

Mrs. Leroy told the enthusiastic members that between four and five thousand concerts given in America each year made this country the most musical country in the world. More concerts are given in America than in all the rest of the world, she said.

"To a large degree, the organized audience movement, of which Community Concerts are a part, is responsible for this," she explained.

Lovers of good music need have no fear of television injuring concert presentations, she added. "Television will not upset our plans. Radio, television and concerts go hand in hand. Concerts bring the live personalities people have heard on radio and seen on television to your stages," she explained.

Mrs. Leroy gave four reasons for the Community Concert movement: (1) Because of youth good music should live on. (2) Where good music is as important as good schools, fine churches and good libraries, the town is good to live in; the cultural horizon is just a little higher. (3) The association brings series of concerts that the community would otherwise be unable to obtain, and (4) because of the work put out by the team members.

Mrs. Leroy finished her talk with a description of some of the newer artists available to community groups and an admonition to make this year's association membership larger and thus bring in the best talent.

Besides officers, team captains and members, several guests attended the initial dinner meeting. Among them were Robert B. Shanklin, president of the Alliance Community Concert Association, and Mrs. Paul Spencer, campaign secretary of the same group.

Team captains and team members for this year have been chosen and are already busy getting new memberships and renewing old memberships for this year's series of concerts.

Team captains and members are: Miss Hilda Franke, captain, Mrs. Ray Pearce, Thomas Crothers, Mrs. Naomi Shinn, Miss Betty Wright, Mrs. James Primm, Mrs. William Wright, Mrs. Lester McCrea, Mrs. Rolin Herron and Mrs. Wayne Wilson.

Mrs. William Pauline, captain, Mrs. William Seeman, Miss Katherine Minth, Fred Theiss, Mrs. Nancy Tressler, Mrs. Martin Lee Roth, Mrs. Walter Strain, Mrs. Carroll Beck and Mrs. A. Donald Griffith.

Business and Professional Women's team, Miss Ruth Cosgrove, captain, Miss Enid Zarbaugh, Mrs. Mary Byerly, Mrs. Lee Pelley, Mrs. John Hoff of Columbiana, Miss Leona Ehrhart of Columbiana and Miss Mary Catherine Scullion.

Miss Martha Krauss, captain, Mrs. Dan Holloway, Mrs. James Fisher, Harold Harman, Mrs. Robert Hammell, Mrs. Lee Schafer, Miss Sue Hill, Louis Coccia, Lowell Goad, and Miss Edith Leider.

Mrs. William F. Ross, captain, Miss Mary Wolcott, Homer Taylor, Mrs. Walter Hofmeister, Mrs. George Jones, Mrs. Harold Musser, Mrs. Frank Sloudt, Mrs. George Huston, Mrs. Ted Beck and Miss Nancy Stamp.

Miss Carmen McNicol, captain, Miss Ann McLaughlin, Miss Mary Elizabeth O'Neil, Mrs. Curtis Vaughan, Miss Margaret Entrikey, Miss Elinor Currier, Dr. Ann Suljot, Miss Maxine Miller and Miss Margaret Hollinger.

Mrs. Edward Cormany, captain, Miss Doris Tellow, Curtis Vaughan, Dale Engel, Mrs. Frank Huber, Mrs. R. B. Carey, Mrs. Sam Wald, Mrs. Thomas E. Dixon and Mrs. Roy V. Meyer.

Men's team, William Wark, Henry Anderson, Harold Wykoff, J. Frederick MacClain, John Vance and Richard Burcaw.

Team members in other communities are: Mrs. Dallas Hepburn and Miss Lois Armstrong of Lisbon, Mrs. Richard Rose of Leetonia and Mrs. Ted Beck of Damascus.

Association officers are Walter Null II, president; Mrs. Vesta King, in charge of the membership campaign; and Mrs. William F. Ross and Mrs. Fred Sweitzer, Jr., assisting Mrs. King.

Salem Area Couple To Have May Wedding

May 8 is the date set for the Weaver-Blasiman nuptials and Rev. D. Hamilton Funk, pastor of the Concord Presbyterian Church, will officiate in the ceremony which will be performed at 8:15 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

The bride-elect, Miss Donna Jean Weaver, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Weaver of RD 5, Salem, and her fiancé is Wilbur Blasiman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blasiman of RD 4, Salem. Custom of open church will be observed at the wedding and friends and relatives are invited to the reception in the church social rooms.

Mrs. Paul Heaver, of New Springfield, will serve her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids will be Misses Dorothy Lehman and Betty Wolford. Frank Sabol of Girard, Pa., will be best man and ushers will be LeRoy Weaver and Richard Blasiman, brothers of the couple.

Last Friday Mrs. Heaver entertained at a kitchen and miscellaneous shower party for her sister. During the evening the guests hemmed towels for the bride-to-be, who found her gifts beneath an umbrella decorated in pink and green.

Miss Weaver graduated from Greenford High School and is employed by the Ohio Edison Co. Her fiancé is a graduate of Goshen High School and is an employee of the Fire Clay Co. of Canfield.

Woodruff Drawings Printed In Cleveland

An interesting article on the nostalgic drawings of Eugene R. Woodruff, 80, of Cleveland, appeared in the pictorial section of the Sunday Cleveland Plain Dealer. Mr. Woodruff is the father of Paul Woodruff, draftsman for the Electric Furnace Co. here.

With the article was the first of a series of drawings under the theme, "Do You Remember" and also a picture of "Grandpa Woodruff."

The subjects and scenes of his sketches are from memories of events in his youth, which he spent in a small town in the Finger Lake section of New York State. Mr. Woodruff was a bridge and structural steel designer for 48 years, having started as a drafting room apprentice when he was 17. He retired 15 years ago.

After retiring, the octogenarian took up ceramics and painting as a hobby. A number of his ceramics were exhibited in May shows.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Woodruff, who reside on the Lisbon Rd., spent the weekend with Mr. Woodruff's father, and also attended the diamond jubilee festivities of Case College of Applied Science. Paul is an alumnus of this college.

75 Couples Attend 'Spring Frolic At Elks'

A nautical theme prevailed in the decorations at the successful dance enjoyed by 75 couples at the Berlin Yacht Club "Spring Frolic" Saturday evening in the Elks ballroom.

Paul Kuhns and his orchestra played the dance program. Carl Fied and his committee planned the affair, which is the first activity of the club's season prior to the actual sailing and racing fun beginning Decoration Day Olin Dilworth is commodore and Mrs. Dilworth is auxiliary commodore.

The members are planning a benefit to aid in securing additional playground equipment for the club grounds at Berlin Lake.

THE SEVENTH ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP drive of the Northern Columbiana County Community Concert Association opened Monday evening at the dinner meeting for all officers and workers in the Presbyterian Church.

Officers and team captains shown above are: at the table, Walter B. Null II, Association president, and Mrs. Vesta King, vice president and general chairman. In the first row (left to right) are Mrs. Roy V. Meyer, dinner chairman; Mrs. Fred Sweitzer Jr., drive co-chairman; Mrs. Curtis Vaughan, campaign secretary and Orein Naragon, treasurer.

In the back row are Miss Martha Krauss and Mrs. William Pauline, team captains, Mrs. William Fenton Ross, drive co-chairman and Miss Hilda Franke, team captain. Not present when the picture was taken were Miss Carmen McNicol, secretary; Don Hammell, publicity chairman and Mrs. Ed Cormany and Miss Ruth Cosgrove, team captains.

Salem Troop 29 Girl Scouts Hostesses At Dinner Party

Members of Troop 29 of the Salem Girl Scouts were hostesses Friday when they entertained members of their families at a dinner party in the Baptist Church social hall. The troop, comprised of 28 girls, was divided into committees of four which were in charge of planning, preparing, and serving the dinner.

Mrs. Nevin Halverstadt, and members of her troop committee, bought the food and supervised the girls in the preparation. Jonquils and forsythia and a green and white color theme were used on the attractively appointed tables where the 10 scouts and guests were seated.

Rev. R. J. Hunter, a guest, gave the invocation. Other guests were Mrs. Elise Starkie, council president; Mrs. Mabel Huston, chairman of the organization, and Mrs. Ethel Jackson, a member of the organization committee. Other members of council present were Mrs. Lorie Caplan, service chairman, and Mrs. Harry Loria, Juliette Low chairman.

Mrs. Starkie awarded second class badges to Judy DeCrow, Wanda Sue Helmick, Carol Luce, Bonnie Ruse, Carol Schramm, Marjorie Vaughn, Carol Caplan, Paula Centow, Mary Alice Detimore, Barbara Bricker, Carol Grimm, Margaret Null, Linda Heston, Sandra Hiltbrand, Joyce Ann Halverstadt, Nancy Talbot, Sylvia White, Dorothy Semple, Diane Fleischer, Trin Sue Loria, Sandra Eyster, Susan Mosher, Jeannette Lewis, Marilyn Fenton, Diane Tompkinson, Sandra Weiss, Elaine Nyktas, and Sandra Trotter.

Marsha Barnes who is no longer in the troop, but who has completed her work, also was presented a badge. Each girl also was awarded proficiency badges in cooking and nutrition, and membership stars for this year.

The dinner also meeting served a four-fold purpose including: a birthday dinner for the troop; necessary work on cooking and nutrition badges; court of awards and work on the hostess badge yet to be completed.

Leaders of the troop are Mrs. James Lindsay, Mrs. Henry Reese and Mrs. Ronald Fleischer. Mrs. Lindsay was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. D. W. Lewis and Mrs. Pearl Taylor assisted with the badge work and they received gifts from the girls. Carol Luce made the presentation.

Mrs. Lindsay presented the troop committee their membership cards including Mrs. Nevin Halverstadt; Mrs. August DeCrow, Mrs. Allen Helmick, Mrs. H. W. Heston, Mrs. D. W. Lewis, Mrs. William Luce, Mrs. William Tompkinson, Mrs. Howard Trotter, Mrs. Hyman Chentow and Mrs. Milton Critchfield.

The leaders and Mrs. Jackson also received their membership cards. Other adult registered girls affiliated with the troop are Mrs. Charles Mosher, Mrs. Carlan, Mrs. Loria, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Lindsay and Mr. Loria. The last three are on the camp committee. The meeting closed with the singing of "A Good Girl Scout."

Alice Dennig Society Hears Mrs. Black

"History of the National Council of Churches" was Mrs. Walter Black's topic when she led the discussion at the Friday evening meeting of the Alice Dennig Missionary Society of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in the church.

Mrs. Black declared that the motto of the council is "This Nation Under God." Miss Mary Berger was hostess. The missionary benediction concluded the meeting and Miss Hilda Franke presided at the business session. The next meeting, May 8, will be led by Mrs. Carl Auman, with Mrs. Ray Stockton, hostess.

I LOST 30 POUNDS CLEVELAND LADY PRAISES RENNEL

"I have lost as much as 30 lbs. in ten weeks using RENNEL, and I feel so much better since losing this weight," writes Mrs. William Boyle, 6603 Lorain Ave., Cleveland 2, Ohio. "I had tried many other products for reducing without success, and heard about RENNEL through a friend who had used it successfully. I weighed 167 lbs. when I started taking RENNEL and I'm now down to around 132 lbs. I was amazed to note that I did not have to starve myself. Also I had been subject to arthritis off and on during the winter months, but no more since I've used RENNEL. Two of my friends are now taking RENNEL and feel the same as I do about it. It is certainly a wonderful product."

Kent Minister To Address Presbyterians

Rev. Herbert E. VanMeter, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Kent, will be guest speaker at the family night dinner party Friday at 6:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church. His subject will be "Toward an Understanding in China."

The Kent minister speaks about China from first-hand knowledge, having taught in Oberlin-in-China School in China after he graduated from Oberlin College in Ohio. When the Japanese invaded China Mr. VanMeter came back to the United States and in due time graduated from the Oberlin Graduate School of Theology.

During the war he served as Marine chaplain in the Pacific Island invasions and was in the fighting on Iwo Jima. After his discharge from the Navy he went back to China as an ordained missionary with his wife, a YWCA secretary. When the Communists invaded the country they were taken into protective custody and released in November of 1950.

County Council Plans Achievement Day

Mrs. Ruth Pendry, home demonstration agent, said final plans have been completed for the annual Columbiana County Home Demonstration Council's annual Achievement Day Wednesday at the Manos Theater.

The program will open at 10 a.m. with a welcome by Mrs. D. M. Allison, president, followed by group singing led by Mrs. Roger Stafford. Devotions will be in charge of Mrs. Robert Smith.

Playlets, "Freeing a Slave Girl" and "The Morning Following Morgan's Raid," will be presented at the forenoon session, as will a movie, "This is Our State."

The Homemakers Chorus will sing before adjournment for dinner at the Christian and Presbyterian Churches.

In the afternoon session starting at 1:15 a playlet, "The First Home Demonstration Council," will be presented.

Home Council members will be installed at ceremonies conducted by Mrs. Lester Burton and Mrs. Vernon Crouse both of Mahoning County.

Mrs. Carleton Currie will speak on "Pioneering in Religion" and Mrs. Frank Harlan will give a reading, "Aunt Hattie and Antiques."

A tea honoring past home agents will be held at the Methodist Church following the affair. The first home council will be hostesses.

About 500 are expected to attend the affair.

Scout Council To Pay Fees For Girls Attending Camp

The Salem Girl Scout Council will pay camp fees for all Girl Scouts who wish to attend their Camp Merrydale this summer. This decision was made at the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors held Thursday morning in the Scout Office.

Proceeds from the annual Girl Scout cookie sales have formerly been used for camp improvement but the above recommendation was made in appreciation of the girls' diligent efforts in selling the cookies this year.

Troop camping will start with open house, June 8, and will continue through August 30. Mrs. J. Brooke Votaw, camp chairman announced that all dates have been filled, and that clean-up day is scheduled for May 24.

The program committee, headed by Mrs. Carl Smith, will provide Camp Aides upon requests from troops. The aides are Senior Girl Scouts, and they will receive their indoor instruction from Mrs. Vaughn Nichols April 21, when the three senior troops will meet in the Christian Church. Outdoor training will be given by Mrs. Starke and Mrs. James Gregg at camp May 1 and 2.

The board members agreed to make Camp Merrydale available to a group of children who will receive special training under the direction of Edward Harris, speech therapist. The instruction will consist of a concentrated course for several groups over weekends during May.

Reporting activities of the organization committee, Mrs. George Huston urged cooperation from every chairman to encourage troop committees to meet with leaders.

Council committee budgets for next year are being considered by the finance committee. Mrs. Joseph Greenwood gave a report on this year's budget.

Mrs. Norman Pederson Jr., president of the Leaders' Association, announced that a Centennial Park pavilion is open to Girl Scout troops at any time that it is not reserved by another group.

The next board meeting will be May 7.

High School Choir To Sing At Meeting

The Salem High School Robed Choir will sing for members of the Rotary Club at their noon meeting April 28. Other dates scheduled by Thomas E. Crothers, supervisor of music in the Salem Schools, include: participation in the Tri-City Festival Friday, May 1, and the annual spring concert by the three choirs in the High School May 22.

The Tri-City Festival includes choirs from Salem, Alliance and Louisville Schools. Each will present a 15-minute program and then will sing as a group under the direction of Louis Diercks, who is head of the choral music at Ohio State University. The choirs also will sing at Junior High and High School assemblies.

Two Seek House Seat In Virginia

1st Election In Area Which Bolted To Ike

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—William M. (Big Bill) Tuck, out of public office since he left the Governor's Mansion three years ago, made his bid for a seat in Congress today in a special election in Virginia's Fifth District.

It marked the nation's first election for a congressional seat in a Democratic area which bolted to the Republican camp in last November's presidential race. Polls in the district's nine counties and two cities opened at 6 a. m. and will close at 6 p. m.

Lorne Ross Campbell, 43-year-old political newcomer from Independence in Grayson County, opposed Tuck.

Much of Republican Campbell's hopes for victory rested in his belief that he will win support from disgruntled Democrats who were alienated by Tuck's stand in the presidential campaign.

Tuck, a 57-year-old lawyer at the tobacco town of South Boston in Halifax County, repudiated the national Democratic ticket of Adlai Stevenson and John Sparkman in a radio address last Oct. 22. And though he never specifically endorsed Eisenhower, politicians believed it was partly because of his stand that the Fifth District broke its traditional Democratic ties and gave the Republicans a 4,000-vote triumph.

Tuck and Campbell seek the congressional seat held previously by Thomas B. Stanley of Henry County, who stepped down from the House in February to seek the Democratic nomination for governor.

Ike Trains Sights On Breaking 90 In Golf; To Toss First Ball

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Vacationing President Eisenhower trained his sights anew on a below-90 golf score today after a bow to the baseball world.

The President, his headquarters said, will be on hand to toss out the first ball when the Washington Senators meet the World Champion New York Yankees at Griffith Stadium in the nation's capital Thursday.

Eisenhower switched plans and decided to go to the baseball game after rain washed out the American League opener the Senators and the Yanks were scheduled to play in Washington yesterday.

The President had passed up the operer days before it was cancelled—in favor of flying to Augusta yesterday for a vacation of golf.

But his plans called all along for a one-day trip back to Washington Thursday for a speech at an editors' meeting. So he decided—when the baseball game was put off until that day—to drop in at Griffith Stadium for at least part of the game before returning to Augusta.

Eisenhower was out on the Augusta National golf course within 45 minutes after his plane arrived from Washington yesterday. He played with Rep. Jack Westland (R-Wash.), the 1952 national amateur champion, and two club members.

Ben Hogan denied a published report that he backed out of a game with the President after it had been arranged.

"It is not true," Hogan told a reporter. "It is absurd, it is preposterous, it is ridiculous."

Hogan added that he and Eisenhower did not play yesterday because "the President had a game arranged with Jack Westland and I had one arranged with some other folks."

Corn Growers Get New Weapon To Fight Rootworm

The nation's largest food crop—corn—is beginning its annual battle for survival against billions of tiny, hungry sub-soil rootworms that have been a multi-million dollar headache to corn growers for the past 50 years.

This year, however, the nation's corn growers will have a new weapon to protect their vital 80 million acres. It's a chemical pest-killer called "aldrin," the most effective answer so far to the worms that in the last three years caused greater damage to the mid-west corn crop than any other single factor.

Under the rootworm attack, corn plants lose a portion of their roots. The damage extends all the way from the fields through the stockyards to the dinner table.

Rootworm-weakened corn fields mean stalks that yield fewer bushels per acre, less fodder for cattle, uprooted hills that lie in tangled heaps making mechanized harvesting impossible.

Scientific experiments show that only one-half pound of aldrin per acre is enough to control rootworm damage.

In addition this insecticide, which was developed by the Shell Chemical Corp., has been equally effective against Japanese beetles, white grubs, wire worms, grasshoppers, mosquitos and the scourge of the cotton fields—the boll weevil.

Last year, when the food supply of the Middle East was cut off by swarms of hungry locusts, controlled quantities of aldrin were rushed to the ailing countries. One of the great locust plagues in the history of man fell before an aldrin spray.

This new crop saver can be mixed as a dry powder with starter fertilizer to insure worm-safe corn hills. But even sprayed on growing stalks, aldrin has shown its strength.

Agricultural experts also claim crop safety for this new insecticide. While aldrin kills plant enemies, neither the plant nor the soil's chemical stability is affected, they report.

Yesterday's corn farmers fought the rootworm by breaking its life cycle through turning precious corn fields over to less vital and profitable plants every two years. Today, aldrin may give a real break to farmers, cattlemen—and housewives.

Lambs Worth More At Early Market

Lambs usually bring at least $5 a hundred more in July and August than they will average during the rest of the year.

"July and August are almost always the best months for Ohio sheepmen to market spring lambs," says Ralph Grimshaw, extension specialist at Ohio State University. "It is normal for market lamb prices to take a sharp drop after the summer peak."

"During 1952, double blue lambs in many Ohio pools brought $31 a hundred during July and August." Madison County lamb pool figures show a comparison of double blue prices:

July 1, $29.75; July 22, $30.50; August 12, $32; September 2, $29.50; September 16, $28.50; September 30, $32; October 14, $26; October 28, $25; November 11, $25.50; November 25, $25.50; December 9, $24; December 23, $24; January 13, $24, and February 3, $23.25.

Grimshaw says growers who get spring lambs on July or August markets use most of these practices: 1. Feed each ewe that has twins 2 pounds of grain a day with all the good legume hay she will eat until she goes on pasture. Ewes with single lambs probably need only 1½ pounds of grain.

2. Creep feed lambs on mixture of cracked corn, 20 pounds; oats, 20 pounds; bran, 10 pounds, and soybean meal, 10 pounds. Many growers who have large crossbred ewes say creep feeding is not necessary if ewes get plenty of grain and all the legume hay they will eat.

3. Put lambs and ewes on pasture as soon as it is ready. 4. Drench ewes in April with phenothiazine. Dip or spray the whole flock shortly after shearing if ewes have ticks at shearing time. If ewes have ticks at shearing time, lambs probably will have them a week later.

Weed Control Helps To Kill Wild Grapes

Woodlot owners can eliminate wild grape vines from their timber stands by using chemical weed control solutions says W. R. Anderson, Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station forester.

Most effective of these chemicals is 2,4,5-T, mixed at the rate of 1 gallon of a commercial mixture containing 4 pounds of active ingredients a gallon, to 90 gallons of kerosene or fuel oil.

Watch Those Fruit Varieties

By RUSSELL STANTON
Rutgers University, College of Agriculture

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — Do you yearn for the day you can go out into the back yard and pick strawberries for supper or enough apples for a pie?

What about growing fruit in the home garden? I put this question up to Ernest G. Christ, fruit specialist at Rutgers and I'm happy to pass along his advice:

First of all, don't be tempted by those juicy, ready-to-eat pictures on the nursery catalogs until you have done careful planning. The varieties shown in the pictures may not fit your condition.

You can be sure if a variety is adapted to your location by asking your county agricultural agent, a public employee who will give an unbiased answer.

The most important factor to weigh is space. If your lot is small, you may have to limit your small fruit to grapes and some of the small fruits or berries, with maybe a few dwarf apple or pear trees. Consider that one standard apple or sweet cherry tree will need 35 to 40 feet when it is mature.

Then there's the matter of pollination. Apples and pears need to be cross-pollinated for best results, meaning you'll need two varieties unless there are other apple or pear trees nearby. Most peaches do not need cross-pollination, nor do European sorts of plums.

Trees and berry bushes are most successfully transplanted while they are dormant. Between now and fall, when your nursery will be ready to deliver your stock, you can take time to study the situation.

You'll also have time to improve your fruit garden soil, if it needs improving. Acidity can be prevented by adding lime, and organic matter can be dug in. Good soil is important, fruit men agree, because trees and bushes stay in place a long time.

Meanwhile, though, you can start some strawberry plants. Many gardeners rotate strawberries with vegetables. Plants set this spring will bear next year and possibly the following year; then they are removed and the space is planted to vegetables.

Any good garden soil will produce strawberries, but it's important to get them off to a good start. This means setting each plant so that the tip of the crown or growing point, comes just above the surface of the soil.

If the top is covered the plant may die, and if the crown is too high out of the ground the lower part may dry out enough to slow down growth or kill the plant. It's important to make the hole wide enough to spread the roots out.

To get fruit of the highest quality, set the plants 15 inches apart in rows 2 feet apart, Christ advises, and then remove runners as they form. Another method is to set the plants 2 feet apart with the rows 3½ to 4 feet apart. Some runner plants are permitted to remain in the row.

And, of course, you'll have to pick all blossoms this first year. This gives the plant a chance to gather strength so that it can reward you with berries you can be proud of next year.

SPRAYING a cherry tree, a routine job that you will take on if you establish permanent fruit in your garden.

roads cut through farms or where distance from barn and water eliminate some fields for pasture purposes.

Plows Only Once Every Four Years

Sloping land on Howard Call's dairy farm in Summit County is in full production although he plows it only once in four years.

Call does not grow cultivated crops on this land. He sows a mixture of alfalfa, ladino clover and bromegrass in oats every four years and uses it for hay, silage and pasture.

For the first two years he makes most of the meadow into hay and silage. He uses it more for pasture the second and third years and pastures close in the fall before it is plowed.

Earl Jones, extension agronomist at Ohio State University, says grass sods are heavy enough to keep erosion to a minimum after plowing. Call rotates his pasture plots and uses lime and fertilizer on meadows.

Jones says Call's cropping system is adapted to dairy and beef breeding farms on sloping land. He also points out that the system is good where heavily-traveled

Superphosphate Cuts Poultry House Odor

Superphosphate fertilizer is better than lime to reduce the ammonia odor in poultry houses, according to research at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster.

A. R. Winter recently completed a comparison of hydrated lime and superphosphate to sprinkle droppings in poultry houses. Superphosphate reduced the escape of ammonia two-thirds more than either lime or no treatment.

Droppings sprinkled with superphosphate retain more nitrogen than untreated droppings. This increases their value as fertilizer.

Winter says ammonia odor is more noticeable in cold weather when poultrymen reduce ventilation to keep poultry houses warm. If there is enough ammonia, it irritates eyes of young chickens and causes workers' discomfort.

Cleaning Up Helps Prevent Farm Fires

The United States Department of Agriculture and the National Fire Protection Association are urging cleaning up for fire protection.

They point out that cleaning up helps eliminate fire hazards. Farm families annually lose about 3,500 lives and $125,000,000 worth of property from fires.

Cleaning up also improves property appearance, aids health; makes work seem easier and reduces accidents other than fires. About 14,500 farm residents die and 1,250,000 others are injured in accidents every year.

"Burning fields may be the easiest way to clean them up," says USDA, "but it does not improve your soil. If you must burn fields, however, remember to: avoid dry windy days; burn late in the evening; keep fire-fighting tools handy;

"Notify your local fire officer before burning, and don't leave a fire until it is completely out."

Woodlot owners can kill wild grape vines with 2,4,5-T solutions.

Lighting Tip For The Farm

Whether you're brooding twenty or two hundred chicks don't overlook the advantages of infrared brooding.

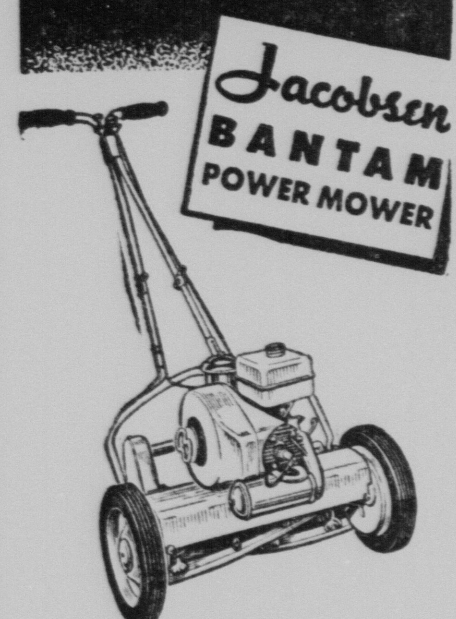

That same, type of handy heat lamp that soothes sore muscles will help keep chicks warm during cold weather.

New channel-type units with two four or six lamps make it possible to serve any size brood. These channels are suspended on chains so that the lamps may easily be raised as chickens grow.

Notice how the lamps shown in the picture above are positioned at approximately a 45-degree angle and mounted in pairs with two and one-half feet between each pair. Lamps are controlled by pull chain or switch operation.

General Electric farm lighting specialists point out that infrared brooding is as practical for family size flocks as it is for large commercial poultry houses. In fact, infrared heat may also be used to supplement other types of brooders.

All Major League Teams Set To Go Into Action Today

Braves Defeat Redlegs, 2-0

Yanks-Washington Game Rained Out

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Major league baseball clubs shook off their spring training wraps and started playing for keeps today after giving their newest partner, the Milwaukee Braves, a one-game head start.

About 225,000 fans were expected to sit in on the eight opening games. The weatherman predicted passable conditions everywhere.

The Braves came to their new home to play the St. Louis Cardinals after beating Cincinnati, 2-0, yesterday in a National League preview. The American League half of the special opening program between Washington and the World Champion New York Yankees in the nation's capital was rained out.

Max Surkont, the one true New Englander on the old Boston Braves roster, and Bill Bruton, a rookie who jumped from the minors to the majors without leaving the city that beer made famous, got Milwaukee off to an auspicious start in its third try in the major leagues. The Milwaukee entries in the old National League of 1878 and in the new American League of 1901 both lost their opening games.

Surkont set the Redlegs down on three hits—two ground-rule doubles into the crowd of 30,103 and a single—and contributed a double and a single to the Milwaukee attack. Bruton singled to open the game, stole second and scored the first run. Later he doubled and twice he snared long drives which looked like sure bets for extra bases.

Lefty Warren Spahn drew the home assignment today against the Cards' Gerry Staley.

The washout in Washington cost Vice President Nixon his chance to toss out the first ball. His promised blooper pitch will have to wait until some other time because President Eisenhower said last night he will be back from his golfing holiday in Georgia for the rescheduled Washington opener Thursday.

Today's largest crowd, some 50,000, was expected at Cleveland to watch the Indians and the Chicago White Sox, the two clubs figured to have the best chance of ending the Yankees' four-year reign in the American League. Bob Lemon of the Indians got the opening nod against Saul Rogovin.

Casey Stengel raises his fourth pennant at Yankee Stadium and then sends his charges into action against the Philadelphia Athletics with Vic Raschi facing Alex Kellner.

At Boston, the Red Sox meet Washington. Mel Parnell goes against Bob Porterfield.

Ned Garver, who shut out Detroit while wearing a St. Louis uniform in last year's opener, will try to Reverse the trick this time in the only night game on today's schedule at St. Louis. Garver was traded to the Tigers early last season. Virgil Trucks, who pitched two no hit games for Detroit in 1952, will open for the Browns.

The Boston-to-Milwaukee shift juggled the opening-day schedule in the National League and brought the Pittsburgh Pirates, the synthetic Grapefruit League champion, into Ebbets Field, home of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Dodgers, heavy choice to win their second straight flag, start the chase with Carl Erskine on the mound against Murry Dickson.

The New York Giants, with Larry Jansen pitching, face the Philadelphia Phils in Philadelphia and Robin Roberts.

Cincinnati tries to get up to the .500 mark by throwing lefty Ken Raffensberger against Bob Rush and the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field.

Globetrotters Win

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Harlem Globetrotters held a 12-6 advantage today in their intercontinental basketball tour with the College All Stars after whipping the collegians here Monday night, 91-79.

Distance swimmer Luis Child, backstroke George Duganne and breaststroker Ted Robinson won two first places each as the Florida Gators won the Southeastern Conference title. Each one set a new conference record.

PLAY BALL—The Milwaukee Braves and the Cincinnati Redlegs pried the lid off the major league baseball season as they clashed before 34,000 fans in Cincinnati. In Photo: Bill Bruton, Braves outfielder, slides safely back to base as Redleg 1st sacker Ted Kluszewski waits for the ball. Milwaukee won 2-0.

Aussies Ready To Fight For '56 Olympics

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—You can expect the Australians to say plenty — including some critical things about International Olympic Committee President Avery Brundage—at the IOC meeting starting in Mexico City Friday.

That was the mood of Australia's chief delegate, Hugh R. Weir, as he got his brief together before leaving Sydney for the meeting.

This is the conference that will decide whether Melbourne is to retain the right to stage the 1956 Olympic Games. After many ups and downs, much optimism and pessimism, Melbourne today is very confident it can make a good job of the games.

Weir, senior Australian representative on the IOC, will have with him Arthur W. Coles, millionaire chief organizer of the Melbourne games.

Weir has not made any public attack on Brundage, but people close to him say he is saving up his verbal thunder for the Mexico City meeting.

Weir is more than a little annoyed because Brundage has circulated letters from Australians who claimed Melbourne doesn't want the games. Copies of some of these letters that have reached Australia are unsigned, and some seem to indicate the writers know practically nothing about Melbourne's plans.

Weir will say that Melbourne now has all the sites fixed for the different sporting events, and that funds for the estimated cost of putting on the games have been guaranteed.

MAN SIZE—Dick Wilson, 12, weighs only 90 pounds so had his hands full boating this 45-pound channel bass while trolling in Oregon Inlet, N. C. It is one of the first caught there with rod and reel.

Indians Set For Opener At Cleveland Stadium Today

CLEVELAND (AP)—The grand sport of arguing over the merits of the in-and-out Cleveland Indians can resume today where it left off last fall.

Cleveland Mayor Thomas A. Burke, a southpaw, signals the opening of the season this afternoon by pitching one to Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche at home plate. Then Bob Lemon takes over the hill for Cleveland against the "Dark horse pennant bet," the Chicago White Sox.

Strangely, you don't hear too many confident predictions of a pennant for the Indians this season around here. Hank Greenberg, the general manager, and Al Lopez, the manager, are brisly optimistic but that's all.

Lopez, however, will say this: This is the best team he has fielded since he replaced Manager L. Boudreau two years ago.

Lopez' opposite number on the White Sox, Manager Paul Richards, said flatly his team would win the pennant.

"If the White Sox don't win," he said on arrival here, "I don't know who will."

Chicago's starting pitcher, Saul Rogovin, also talked confidently, but he didn't seem to think Cleveland was any easy club to pitch to, or any other club in the league for that matter.

"They're all tough," he said. "The weather forecast was partly cloudy and a temperature that may reach 50."

The Indians had planned a fireworks display, but had to cancel this when it was found a wall of the center field bleachers had begun to buckle. Stadium officials said fans will be allowed to sit in the bleachers, since the damage is above the seats.

Jim Thorpe Buried In Shawnee, Okla.

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—They laid Jim Thorpe to rest here Monday—but his athletic feats will serve as a living memorial to the unassuming Indian acknowledged by many to be "the greatest of them all."

An Oklahoma state commission continued its efforts today to raise $100,000 for a bronze and marble statue of Thorpe in football togs as he played for the Carlisle, Pa., Indian school. The 21 foot statue will be erected at the burial site.

Telegrams from many persons in athletics and other occupations have poured in, including a note of condolence from President Eisenhower. The President played against Thorpe when Eisenhower was on the West Point football team.

Gavilan Fights Minelli Tonight In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Welterweight champ Kid Gavilan, who hasn't had a fight since he whipped Chuck Davey last February, gets back to work tonight in a 10-round non-title bout with Livio Minelli of Italy, the European welter king.

The Cuban kid is unbeaten in his last 28 starts, including his technical knockout of Davey in Chicago, and is expected to have little trouble subduing the Italian boxer. In fact, the bookies were refusing to quote odds.

There won't be any television or radio.

The semi-final bout features welterweight Chico Vejar, the New York drama student, against Tony Cimmino of Bayonne, N. J., who game him a tough battle two months ago in Johnstown, Pa.

The remainder of the card includes light heavyweight Ben Skenton of Pittsburgh vs. Chuck Hunter in an eight-rounder; welterweight Stoneval Jackson of New York vs. Chuck Price of Detroit in an eight-rounder; and two six round bouts, lightweight Billy Wagner of Pittsburgh vs. Mickey Mars of Cleveland, and middleweight Harry Miller of Niles, O., vs. Bobby Finnerty of Cleveland.

Bruins Hope Star Goalie Will Return Tonight

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Bruins, hopeful of the return of regular goalie Sugar Jim Henry, attempt to pull even with the Montreal Canadiens tonight in the fourth game of the National Hockey League's best-of-seven final Stanley Cup series at the Boston Garden.

The Bruins, still smarting from a one-sided 3-0 setback that gave the Canadiens a two games to one lead in the series Sunday, anxiously awaited word on the condition of Henry's left ankle.

Henry, a seasoned campaigner who has performed brilliantly throughout the season, attempted to hasten his return by taking whirlpool bath treatments for the injured ankle.

GIANTS OPTION CATCHER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The New York Giants today optioned Ray Katt, 25-year-old catcher from New Braunfels, Tex., to Buffalo of the International League on a 24-hour recall agreement.

End Costly Road Tinkering...
Get the most out of motor funds by paving with CONCRETE

Official records of the 28 states that report pavement maintenance costs by type of surface show that:

1. Concrete costs an average of only $140.61 per mile per year to maintain.
2. Other types of pavement cost from 41 to 154 per cent more to maintain.

That's important to you, Mr. Motorist, because your gasoline taxes and license fees pay for paving and for maintaining roads.

This is important too: Concrete, with the lowest average maintenance cost, generally carries the heaviest traffic. And it lasts the longest.

Durability and low annual cost. Good reasons why your new roads should be built of concrete.

Hornets Square Off Against Barons Tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Hornets square off against the Cleveland Barons tonight in what could be the windup of the American Hockey League's Calder Cup playoffs—with the Barons on top.

Cleveland holds a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series for the cup, emblematic of post-season league supremacy. Pittsburgh won the trophy last season for the first time in its history.

Yankees Seen Falling Apart With Indians Copping Pennant

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The time has come, by popular demand, to knock down the Yankees and assure their horde of ill-wishers that Casey Stengel's athletes will not win their fifth straight flag in the American League race starting today. The job gets harder with each passing spring.

You might be surprised to know how many persons there are within our borders who hate the Yankees. It is a phenomenon we have not seen satisfactorily explained, other than that a lot of fans are blamed tired seeing one club get all the glory.

Perhaps 30 times recently, and over a wide stretch of country, we were asked, "What's the chances of getting those bums out of Brooklyn."

In every case our reply has been that success is at hand, that the Cleveland Indians are going to wrap up Stengel's fat cats this time and deliver them. We have explained that the Yankees are getting very old, most of them being in their 30s, and that they are likely to begin falling apart at any time now.

To particularize, we have asked them to take little Phil Rizzuto, the glue-man in the champions' infield. Phil has been eating baby food all winter and spring to combat his ulcers, and he's going into the race underweight. That's extremely encouraging to the anti-Yanks.

The other infielders haven't been hitting in exhibition games. Stengel was quoted the other day as saying they had him plenty worried. He said he simply didn't know where to turn after his boys were combed by the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-5, the other day. That's another good sign.

Added to that, Vic Raschi, the veteran starting pitcher, hasn't looked good at all. He has pitched 29 innings in the exhibitions and has been bombarded for 39 hits and 20 runs.

As for Yogi Berra, we saw one bet made at even money that he leads the league in batting this time. This plainly shows that the Yanks, or their followers, at least, are becoming overconfident. It's been the downfall of many a club.

Glorioso May Return To Italy Shortly

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitcher Gullio Cesare Glorioso, brought to this country from Rome for a tryout with the Cleveland Indians, thinks he'll be returning home soon.

Glorioso has joined the Indians here, coming up from training camp at Daytona Beach, but Manager Al Lopez doesn't think he is yet ready for big league pitching, even though he shows promise.

Present plans, said Glorioso, are to study law in Rome. In Italy, he added, baseball isn't exactly a profession.

"We practice twice a week and play on Sunday," he said.

Braves Shut Out Redlegs In Opener

CINCINNATI (AP)—After 75 years Milwaukee is all even with Cincinnati in the matter of opening day National League baseball victories.

Back in 1878 Milwaukee was a member of the National League for one year and lost a 6-4 decision to Cincinnati in the opening game here.

Milwaukee's new team in the National League—the transplanted Boston Braves—eventuated Morday as Max Surkont and Bill Bruton led the club to a 2-0 victory over Cincinnati in the 1953 opener.

Surkont, a 30-year-old right hander who has kicked around in the majors for several years, held the Redlegs to three hits—no more than one in an inning.

Bruton, a 23-year-old rookie scored Milwaukee's first run, the only one the Braves needed, and then saved the day for the team with a couple of leaping one-handed catches against a low fence that blocked off temporary seats in the outfield.

His fielding was nothing short of sensational. His theft of second base which set up Milwaukee's first run came when he was fairly flying down to the bag.

The game with all of its traditional Cincinnati fanfare drew 30,103 cash customers to Crosley Field. They shivered and shook for the third straight year in a biting temperature seem even lower.

And, of course, they saw "our boys" look woefully futile against the assortment of pitches served up by Surkont. Manager Charley Grimm of the jubilant Braves called Surkont's flinging a mixture of "a real live fast ball and a good curve."

The Braves actually locked up the game in the first inning. And it was Bruton who set the stage.

Cincinnati had only one real chance. That was in the third and it was Bruton who wrecked the show.

There were two out but the Redlegs had Bud Podbielan on second and Bobby Adams on first. Willard Marshall lashed a towering driver toward the temporary seats in center field. Bruton backed against the low fence, leaped into the air and speared the ball with one hand.

McKinley Pupils Feted At Dinner

Basketball Players, Cheerleaders Honored

Approximately 100 persons attended the banquet Monday night in the McKinley School gym honoring the school's champion basketball team and cheerleaders. Parents of the players and their "rooters," and the school's teachers sponsored the event.

Attorney Henry L. Reese, toastmaster, introduced the main speaker, John R. Callahan, and the others who said a few words following the dinner. School Superintendent E. S. Kerr, McKinley School Principal Miss Natalie Sharpnack, McKinley Coach Vincent Crawford and Miss Hilda Kommerth, cheerleader sponsor, spoke briefly.

Coach Crawford announced that Danny Krichbaum would be next year's team captain.

Individual members of the basketball team and the cheerleaders were introduced, and the trophy awarded the team by the Varsity S. Club of Salem High School was displayed.

Mr. Crawford announced that group pictures of the team and cheerleaders would be completed soon and passed out among the youngsters.

A highlight of the affair was the performance of the school's cheerleaders.

The McKinley School basketball team won undisputed title to the city's Mickey McGuire championship last season by winning 10 games and losing none. The team scored a total of 308 points during the year.

Team managers are Kenneth Evendhart and Roland McKensie, and the scorekeeper is Tom Dahms.

Cheerleaders are Judy DeCrow, Bonnie Reese, Darla Barnes, Denise Duke, Ginny Stirling, Betsy Young, Sondra Weiss, Carolyn Sanlo, Barbara Jeffries and Linda Heston.

24 Years in National League

Question: Man on first, one out. Count is three and two on the batter. Runner is stealing second as ball four is called. On the play, the runner over slides second and is tagged. Because the batter received a walk, is the runner out? —Tom Speelman.

Answer: The runner at second is out since the ball does not become dead on the fourth ball.

Q. Who holds the major league career record for shutouts? —Tom Higgins.

A. Walter Johnson, with 113. The great Washington right-hander, on Sept. 3-4 in 1908, pitched successive complete games—winning each one by a shutout!

Q. In what American League city were the most home runs hit last season? —Paul Walcott.

A. More homers were hit in Detroit, 124, compared to a mere 31 in Washington.

Q. How many times in modern baseball has a New York Yankee led the American League in batting? —Mike James.

A. Only five times: Babe Ruth, 1924; Lou Gehrig, 1934; Joe DiMaggio, 1939-40; and George Stinewiss, 1945.

Q. How many no-hit games did Cy Young pitch in the 22 years he hurled in the big leagues? —Jack Walter.

A. The Hall of Famer pitched three no-hit shutouts, one being a perfect game.

Q. How many National Leaguers played every game last season? —Mickey Davis.

A. Six—Stan Musial, Cardinals; Whitey Lockman, Giants; Bobby Adams and Roy McMillan, Reds; and Richie Ashburn and Connie Ryan, Phillies.

Mystery Gland In Brain Found To Be Boss Gland Of Body

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
DENVER (AP)—A mystery gland in the brain seems to be the real boss gland of the human body, it was announced today.

It even translates thoughts of love or sex or fear or hate, to order other glands to action. This could explain how thoughts of love could stimulate production of sex hormones. Or how seeing sudden danger spurs adrenal glands to give you extra adrenalin, in order to fight or run.

This big-chief gland is the hypothalamus. Scientists haven't been sure just what it does, or how it works. It's been called the seat of the emotions, and apparently is involved in the strange mechanism of sleep.

An amazing roll for the hypothalamus is found in insect experiments by Dr. Berta Scharer of the University of Colorado School of Medicine.

She finds it has two vital controls over the pituitary, the gland at the base of the brain which up to now has been considered the boss gland.

One control, she finds, is that the hypothalamus actually produces some hormones, and sends them to what, in humans, would be the back part of the pituitary gland. These hormones regulate the salt and water and fluid balance of the body.

The brain gland sends these hormones through a nerve to the pituitary, for a storage and release when necessary.

Sending hormones along nerves is a brand new discovery.

This same nerve coming from the brain gland also has a branch line running to what, in humans, would be the front part of the pituitary gland. That front part of the pituitary makes the hormones which control the sex glands, the adrenal glands, the thyroid gland.

The hypothalamus apparently controls when these pituitary hormones shall be released, Dr. Scharer's work indicates.

The hypothalamus sends a message along the nerve to the front part of the pituitary, giving it orders. If the nerve line is cut, the front pituitary hormones are made but keep piling up. It's like a factory turning out goods, but the shipping department won't send them out until it gets orders by telephone from the boss, and the telephone line is cut.

Dr. Scharer and her husband, Dr. Ernst Scharer, found this evidence in work with giant South American cockroaches, big fellows one to two inches long. Other Scientists are finding other evidence of the hypothalamus being a boss gland. The experiments were described to science writers making a tour of Western research centers, sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Judge To Rule On Strike Hitting Mills

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—Judge Erskine Maiden Jr. plans to rule today on the Youngstown & Northern Railroad's request for an injunction against a wildcat strike by 150 Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The strike has idled some 7,000 U. S. Steel Corp. employees here. The Y & N connects the steel company's plants here with mainline railroads.

The BRT called a meeting of the strikers Monday night, saying it wanted to persuade the men to return to work and let a federal mediator settle their demands for more money. But shortly before midnight, a union spokesman reported the men had refused.

In the injunction request, the Y & N bases its suit on the national act governing railroad bargaining. Under this clause, wage talks cannot be reopened until next Oct. 1 without the consent of both the union and management.

Attorneys for the railroad contended Monday that officers of the BRT conspired in the strike.

Wife Kills 3 Girls, Commits Suicide

EIMONT, N. Y. (AP)—Donald R. Munroe found his wife and three small children dead of gas poisoning last night in their home in this New York City suburb.

The bodies, lined up on the kitchen floor, were those of the mother, Margaret, 28; Donald, 12; Nancy Jean, 5, and Eileen, 4.

Police said Mrs. Munroe apparently held each child over the open stove until dead, and then placed the bodies in a row on the floor. Then she lay down beside the children. Police said it was apparently murder and suicide.

Munroe, 32-year-old truck driver, said upon returning home from work he smelled gas and broke in the locked back door.

Munroe said he could not explain his wife's action.

A note was found addressed to Mrs. Munroe's mother. The contents were not disclosed.

50 Million Pounds Of

Butter To Be Given Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is giving another 50 million pounds of butter, out of its 143 million pound supply, to the school lunch program and charitable institutions.

The Agriculture Department bought the butter in recent months under a dairy price support program. In January it gave 24 million pounds to the same agencies.

ASKS PAVING RULING

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The Harrison Construction Co. of Pittsburgh Monday asked the Second District Court of Appeals for a clarification of its ruling that the Ohio Turnpike Commission must take bids to alternate types of paving for the 24-mile superhighway. The company holds a contract for the construction of the first five-mile strip of the turnpike starting at the Pennsylvania-Ohio line.

She's Stage Star Without Struggles

AP Newsfeatures

NEW YORK — Doretta Morrow

is that rare anomaly of show business who never had to start from the bottom up.

"Just luck," she says.

"Just talent," say the admirers of this brown-eyed, petite singer.

On Broadway, she has had important roles in three straight hits — "The Red Mill," "Where's Charley?" and "The King and I." Her first movie contract came without even the formality of a screen test and she won the singing lead opposite Mario Lanza in "Because You're Mine."

More recently, Doretta began playing "prestige" spots — places like the Cotillion Room of the Hotel Pierre in New York, the Algonquin in Miami and the Thunder-Bird in Las Vegas.

The singer, who was Doretta Marano while growing up in Brooklyn, began taking singing and dancing lessons at an early age. That left little time to play with other children.

"By the time I got to New Utrecht High," she recalls, "the other kids were beginning to get a little annoyed. I think. So somebody asked me what I did with all my afternoons. I said I was taking singing lessons. So somebody else said if you're so good why don't you get a part in a show?"

"So, at 17 and not knowing enough to be scared, I took the dare."

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gamblers and other racketeers in Northern Ohio have been hit for $4,375,000 in income taxes and penalty claims in a Treasury Department crackdown that started two years ago.

The figures on the campaign in the Internal Revenue Bureau's 22-county Cleveland district were disclosed Monday by Garland Williams, head of the bureau's intelligence division in Washington, and Carl G. Johnson, assistant Ohio district revenue commissioners for intelligence.

They reported revenue agents have investigated tax returns of about 1,100 taxpayers with shady occupations. Cleveland, Akron, Canton and Youngstown proved the most fertile grounds for the tax sleuths in this area.

So far in the drive, 32 persons have been dunned for so-called fraud penalties, which amounted to 50 per cent of the amount of tax payments they were shy. Seven have been recommended for criminal prosecution as tax evaders.

Tax returns of some 350 other persons the tax men consider in the racketeer class still are under investigation.

"SUICIDE" TRIAL DELAYED

DELAWARE, O. (AP)—Common Pleas Judge O. W. Whitney Monday postponed the arraignment of Robert R. Robinson, 25, of Columbus, charged with the "suicide" killing of Chelsea Joyce Halley, 17, also of Columbus. Robinson asked for a court-appointed counsel, claiming he was financially unable to hire one himself.

Obituary

Mrs. Charles Dailey

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Dailey, 67, of the North Benton-Calla Rd. died suddenly at the Central Clinic Monday at 5:50 p.m. following a two-year illness of a heart ailment.

Mrs. Dailey was the last survivor of a family of eight. She lived in this vicinity all her life, and was a member of the Concord Presbyterian Church.

She was born in Salem, Nov. 17, 1885, the daughter of George and Jane French Wymer. She was married in Salem, May 30, 1905, to Charles Dailey who survives.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Walter Hively of RD 4, Salem; a granddaughter, Mrs. Vernon Weingart of RD 4, Salem, and a great-grandson, David Weingart. Funeral service will be held on Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home, in charge of Rev. Hamilton D. Funk. Burial will be in Bunker Hill Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday evening.

Emmett G. Hassler

Emmett George Hassler, 71, of Hanoverton died at his home Monday at 10:45 p.m. following a two-year illness.

Mr. Hassler was born near Lisbon April 7, 1882.

He was a retired employee of the Natural Gas Company of West Virginia. He was a member of the Hanoverton Christian Church.

He is survived by his wife, Olive M. Hassler, one daughter, Mrs. Hazel Miller of Beverly, O., two sons, Frank C. Hassler of Bedford, and Charles G. Hassler of Alliance.

Also surviving are his two brothers, John C. Hassler of Florida and Arthur Hassler of Lisbon.

Funeral services will be held in the Hanoverton Christian Church at 2 p.m. Thursday. Rev. Oakley W. Grow, pastor of the church, will officiate. Interment will be in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Maple Funeral Home in Kensington Wednesday afternoon and evening.

John Patrunic

LISBON — John Patrunic, 88, of Grant St., died Monday morning at 11:30 a.m. at the Salem City Hospital following a three-week illness.

A retired Erie Railroad track foreman, he was born Dec. 15, 1864, in Czechoslovakia. There are no survivors.

Services will be held Thursday morning at 9 at the Eells-Leggett Funeral Home, with Rev. Herman Klockner of St. George's Catholic Church, officiating. Burial will be in Lisbon cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday evening.

POWs

ing a U. N. reply to their latest request for resumption of full scale truce negotiations at Panmunjom.

There was no indication when Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East commander, would answer. He had told the Reds earlier that a renewal is the "second order of business" to the disabled POWs exchange.

In Pusan, South Korea's Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai told the National Assembly, "South Koreans prefer death to an armistice without the unification of South and North Korea." There has been speculation about possible settlement without unifying Korea.

Wednesday morning three convoys totaling 68 vehicles were to be on the way from the Yalu River on the Manchurian border to Kaesong, the Red prisoner holding point and truce headquarters six miles from Panmunjom.

The convoys probably carry no more than half of the 600 U. N. prisoners.

About 120 are Americans. The Communists have not announced the order of delivery.

The first Communist convoy departed from Chonma, just below the Yalu River in extreme northwest Korea.

The convoy is marked with red crosses on the hood and red flags on the rear of each vehicle. Convoys on both sides have been guaranteed immunity from attack.

The Communists said a second prisoner convoy was to leave at 6 a. m. Wednesday (4 p. m. EST Tuesday) from Nampo, about 125 miles northeast of the huge Red Manchuria air base of Antung on the Yalu River. A third convoy was to leave Pyoktong about 58 miles southwest of Nampo.

Both convoys, the Communists announced, would remain overnight at Yongsan, eight miles north of the Red Korean capital of Pyongyang, and will then travel as one unit to Kaesong. This is the last stop before the Allied prisoners are brought the final six miles to Panmunjom for return to Allied hands.

The only discussion at Panmunjom Tuesday was a meeting of low-level staff officers of both sides. They agreed on wording of English, Korean and Chinese versions of the document incorporating mechanical details for the exchange.

The staff officers were to meet at 11 a. m. Wednesday (9 p. m. Tuesday, EST).

Inside the Panmunjom neutral circle, U. S. Army engineers had just about finished the reception center where Allied prisoners will first be passed into friendly hands.

At the northern rim, North Korean and Chinese labor squads with pick and shovel continued work on the Communist reception point.

Heavy Frost Damages Hamilton Fruit Crops

CINCINNATI (AP)—Heavy frost today caused thousands of dollars of damage to fruit crops in Hamilton County. Carl R. Bibbee, county agricultural agent reported. The temperature dipped as low as 26 degrees on some parts of the county.

Bibbee said it appeared there had been a heavy loss to peach and pear crops and a heavy loss to the cherry crop. The damage to the apple crop was not believed to have been serious.

The Rio Grande is 1,800 miles long.

Three Young Boys Killed In Auto Mishap

BETHEL, O. (AP)—Three young boys out for a joy ride met death instead Monday night when their automobile skidded off the road, swerved back on the highway, overturned, then rolled into a tree.

The bodies were pinned inside the wreckage and part of the demolished car had to be cut away before they could be removed.

The tragedy occurred on Ohio 125 between Bethel and Amelia.

Killed outright in the crash were: Roger T. White, 16, son of Mrs. Joseph White, Amelia, and Clifford White, Louisville, Ky.; Douglas Francis, 13, son of Amelia auto dealer John Francis and Mrs. Francis, and David Gray, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Love, Amelia.

Kyes, Secretary of the Air Force Talbot and Undersecretary of the Air Force James Douglas have conferred at Omaha, Neb., with Gen. Curtis Lemay, chief of the Strategic Air Command to which the B52s and B47s were to have been assigned.

Opponents of these reported Wilson proposals say any such trend away from bombers and toward fighters would be symptomatic of a "Maginot Line" concept. They argue that an enemy bomber force could over-fly such a defense system the way the Germans over-rode France's much-touted line of underground fortresses a decade and a half ago.

Kiwanians To Hear Rev. A. Laten Carter

Rev. A. Laten Carter of the First Presbyterian Church will be the guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting in the Memorial Building Thursday at 12:05 p.m. His topic will be "Life with Father at a State University."

Lee Vincent will be program chairman for the meeting.

questions, Grunewald was tagged "The Silent Dutchman" and cited for contempt of Congress.

He has pleaded guilty to one count, and is awaiting sentence. The court has indicated its severity may be determined in part by the extent to which he cooperates in the present hearings.

Grunewald told the committee yesterday he reported $26,000 in 1944 as "fees and commissions," but that it represented gambling winnings from the race track.

On advice of his attorney, Grunewald refused to answer many questions on the ground they were "not pertinent" to the inquiry.

He did testify he provided hotel accommodations and gifts for high tax officials but "never," he said, did he discuss tax cases with them.

when taken without advice of a doctor, the committee was told.

"The most important of these," said Deputy Commissioner George P. Larrick, "are the sleeping pills where juveniles will take the sleeping pills to go on a binge and then take the stimulant drugs, like the amphetamines, to overcome the later depressing effect of the sleeping pills."

Larrick said inspectors found one drugstore in Dallas which was selling 250 doses of barbiturates daily, using runners to supply youthful customers around high schools and parks. A similar situation, he said, was found in Houston. And he added that a six-month survey in New Orleans turned up 15 drugstores handling drugs illegally.

East Liverpool Taverns Cited For Violations

Two East Liverpool tavern owners are to appear before the Ohio Board of Liquor Control Wednesday on charges of selling liquor to minors.

The taverns involved are: The Stone Grill Company on 115 E. Sixth St., and the Diamond Restaurant on 521 Market St.

Trading Very Low, Changes Small

NEW YORK (AP)—In quite dull trading, the stock market today backed and filled over a comparatively narrow range.

A point either way provided ample coverage for changes.

Trading was around the lowest point of the year at a rate of around a million and a quarter shares for the entire day.

Among higher stocks were Nickel Plate, Paramount Pictures, U. S. Gypsum, Air Reduction, American Tobacco, Pepsi-Cola, Republic Steel, Goodrich, and Caterpillar tractor.

Lower were Santa Fe, Standard Oil (N.J.), United Air Lines, American Telephone, Anaconda Copper, Du Pont, International Paper, and Boeing.

Ike Asks Government Sell Rubber Plants

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today recommended sale of 550 million dollars worth of government-owned synthetic rubber plants to private industry.

In a special message to Congress from his vacation headquarters here, the President asked the lawmakers to enact legislation authorizing disposal of the facilities.

"I am in hearty accord with the policy determination of the Congress that the security interests of the nation will best be served by the development within the United States of a free competitive synthetic rubber industry, and I believe that now is the time to undertake plant disposal," the President said.

Cuba is 760 miles from end to end but only 100 miles wide at the widest point.

School Lunch Program To Be Held Wednesday

County School Supt. James L. McBride said about 60 will attend the school lunch program conference Wednesday afternoon and evening at the United Local School near New Garden.

The meeting will open at 2:30 followed by a dinner at 6 at the school. The evening session will start at 6:45.

Wade D. Bash, state supervisor of the school lunch program, will be guest speaker.
